Republicans to Democratic Charges: 'Township Government an Open Door'

"I don't see how we could possibly be MORE open than we are," observed Township Mayor Josie Hall this week, answering–as a Republican candidate for re-election to Township Committee–remarks made by Township Democratic candidates in the June 1 issue of TOWN TOPICS. She was joined by running-mate George Adriance.

Democrats had said they wanted to give Committee a more "open and welcoming style," so that more citizens would participate in local government.

The mayor cited two meetings which had been called, not as hearings for any specific ordinance, but to give citizens a chance to talk with Committee in general terms. One was a discussion last month about bike paths; the other, last year, was a meeting about various ways the municipality might allocate sewer tie-ups, after the state partially lifted the sewer moratorium.

"We have welcomed anyone who wants to come in," the mayor continued, "and I am the most accessible mayor ever–I'm around in the daytime."

Commenting on the bike path meeting, the mayor said, "Never once in the previous administration, when many bike paths were contemplated, was there a general 'do-you-like-it?' kind of meeting."

In the previous administration, Jay Bleiman was mayor. He was one of the Democrats who commented on the present Committee. In one of his remarks, he said there was "a stridency now on Township Committee, and the tone is clearly set by the leadership."

"It is one of Jay's typical statements by insinuation," the mayor observed "I'm not sure what he means by 'strident.' Maybe because I try to keep meetings moving along?

"I think my fuse is longer than that of previous mayors. The former mayor (Mr. Bleiman) completely lost patience with a member of the public and with another member of Committee–not me–and I have never done that."

"The times are more strident now than they were 20 years ago," Mr. Adriance observed "You do have to keep things moving, on Committee."

Mayor Hall also commented on Democrats' remarks concerning the growth of the Township, and appointment of a fiscal impact committee. David Klein, defeated last November in the Committee race, had proposed a rateables committee. Instead, Mayor Hall appointed a citizens group to do a financial study of the connection between land use and the master-planning process

"I proposed that committee to the Planning Board in August," the mayor said "They decided they didn't have the resources, so we created a committee at the Township level, which would report to the Planning Board.

Numerous Environmental Problems Expected to Delay Municipal Garage

Unhappiness with the Borough's parking garage on the part of the Environmental Design Review Committee Monday night may cause delay in approval for the structure. The Borough doesn't plan to exercise its option under New Jersey Law and by-pass EDRC and the Planning Board, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week.

The mayor and Borough engineer George Olexa were scheduled to receive late Tuesday the detailed list of EDRC concerns.

"When we get that list," the mayor said, "we'll talk it over with Ullrich Frank (EDRC chairman) and decide what's the best way to proceed."

The Borough itself, some years ago, deliberately passed ordinances requiring it to go through the same planning process as private developers. Presumably, Council could amend those ordinances, allowing the Borough to go ahead with its garage–regardless.

"That would be very, very extreme," the mayor oberved.

Mayor Cawley and Mr. Olexa had hoped to get the garage on the Planning Board's July 5 agenda; however, that is by no means certain, in light of EDRC action Monday

The EDRC wants the Borough to come back with additional data before the formal EDRC report to the Planning Board. There are no plans for a special EDRC meeting, and the next regular one is July 10–five days after the regular Planning Board meeting.

Last week, Mayor Cawley worked out an agreement with Planning Board chairman Margen Penick allowing the Borough to present its garage case Monday night even though the agenda was full. Only Borough cases were heard on Monday, under the agreement, with already-scheduled Township cases deferred to a special meeting next Monday.

This allowed time for garage plans to be presented. As it was, the EDRC meeting ran until almost 1 a.m.

Highlights of the EDRC list:

• The garage design is "monolothic," and not enough attention has been given to scale–it's a "city" building in a "village" setting.

(Mayor Cawley, earlier on Monday, told reporters the building will be a combination of red brick and sand-colored, sand-blasted concrete, a combination chosen to reduce the sense of "mass.")

• By considering differences in car size–standard vs. compact–architects could design a more interesting building.

• The plaza between garage and library is too small. It should be enlarged at the expense of the proposed commercial areas close to Witherspoon, planted attractively and designed with fountains and sculpture to be an inviting location.

• Traffic has not yet been sufficiently studied.

Spring Street must be two-way, and possibly Tulane should be one-way the other way–toward Nassau.

Township Government

"David Klein wanted a committee to seekrateables--well, that's the cart before the horse! First you need to find out how many rateables, what kinds, how they will affect the housing needs--because some kinds of housing, with lots ofschool-age kids, don't carry their own weight--and how housing would affect rateables. You can't chase down rateables before you know what the housing situation is."

"If I've contributed anything as mayor, it's this fiscal impact study. I'm amazed that of all the planners the Township hired since 1969, none felt that a fiscal impact study should be part of the Master Plan."

Borrowing Trouble. Mr. Adriance added, "If you don't make a real effort to know the fiscal impact of what you're doing, you're in real trouble."

"Costs are not only dependent on rateables and the type of housing," the mayor continued, "but on how we face growth. This is why I opposed the 'village' concept: large lumps of building, means there is a gap before the tax base catches up with required municipal services."

Under the new land use law in New Jersey, the mayor said, "the Planning Board is where it all starts.

"Township Committee may pass ordinances, but it's only passing on what's orginated in the Planning Board, so far as housing and land use are concerned. This is probably the way it should be. The Planning Board is doing a remarkable job of forging ahead."

Both Republican candidates expressed the hope that a consolidation study commission will be approved by the voters in November, and the mayor added, "I hope at least one of those elected will be a 'devil's advocate.'"

Parking Garage

- Potential traffic problems at the Wiggins-Vandeventer intersection could be disastrous, and should be studied fully.
- Witherspoon, on the library side, should consist solely of 15-minute parking.

- Loading zones for pick-up or drop-off of books and children, should be provided.
- Not enough "inter-action" has been provided, architecturally, between the main garage and its terraced "stem" which ends at Witherspoon.
- The proposed bridge over Spring Street saw the EDRC divided--some for, some against.
- The EDRC also expressed disappointment that details, like utilities, exhaust for a possible restaurant, air-conditioning for commercial sections, plumbing and so on, were not included. The committee would also like cross-sections of site and buildings from a variety of locations.

Pollution Negligible. Mayor Cawley, who has always acknowledged the importance of traffic, says the Wilbur Smith traffic report is almost ready. He added that data on air pollution, requested by some citizens, are not available anywhere. The Smith firm, however, will comment on parking garage air pollution as part of its report. The mayor said pollution concentration is not regarded as significant.

"I think people have forgotten all the groundwork that was done for this garage so long ago," the mayor said, commenting on criticism of the structure. "People accepted the need for the garage as a result of all the Central Business District planning meetings we held, with public participation."

"The scale of this garage, of Palmer Square's planning, the pedestrian access in from Paul Robeson Place--all are in harmony with the CBD Master Plan. This site had 'A' priority, right from the first."

Balked Bike Path?

No work is currently being done on the new bike paths under construction around town because there is a strike at plants that produce the asphalt, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week.

People who have been walking in the Bayard Lane roadway while that bike path is under construction have been under the impression that excessive rain was the villain. It is not known now long the delay will last, the mayor said.

Theft of Portions of Stony Brook Bridge Makes Problem of Repairing It for Use More Complex

VANDALS AT WORK: People may do even more harm than time itself to the 1809 bridge across Stony Brook on Mercer Road. Since the bridge was closed as unsafe on May 30, souvenir hunters have helped themselves to the old stones. Township police have been alerted and are watching the bridge.

"That bridge isn't going to be there to save!" exclaimed a Mercer County engineer to Freeholder Barbara Sigmund. She had just seen the apparent work of vandals--or to be more polite, souvenir hunters--on the old stones that were used in the early 19th-century to build Stony Brook bridge.

Princeton and Lawrence Townships, various Freeholders and engineers from the county will gather this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the county Administration Building (Room 211), to confer.

This Wednesday, however, a pared-down group of municipal and county officials will hold a pre-meeting in advance of Thursday's session, according to Freeholder Barbara Sigmund.

Meanwhile, Ms. Sigmund said she is exploring with the 104th Engineering Division the possibility of an Army-style temporary bridge over Stony Brook which could carry, if not heavy-duty tanks, at least the cars of those on their way to and from Trenton.

Starting Monday, engineers from the Clifton, N.J., firm of Goodkind and O'Dey began examining the frail bridge to see whether it can be restored. The firm, Ms. Sigmund said, repaired an antique bridge over the Raritan Canal in only 90 days. Freeholders agree that various experts should be called in to see whether the bridge can, or should, be repaired.

The 1809 bridge was closed indefinitely on May 30 because county engineers believed it unsafe.

Township Committee passed a resolution last Wednesday urging the Freeholders to act "with all due speed" to find out what can be done. The bridge closing presents "a severe traffic hardship" to Township residents the resolution said.

Also, the Township made it clear once again that it wants a two-lane bridge, and not a four-lane one, if a new one has to be built.

Four alternatives were presented to the Freeholders last Thursday by Robert Carmignani, director of public works for the county, and county engineer Donald Harney:

- 1. Build a new two-lane, 30-foot-wide bridge, funded 70 percent by the Federal government, 30 percent by the county at a cost of $350,000 and a construction time of five years.
- 2. Build the same bridge with county money–a costlier process ($400,000) because the county wouldn't want to abandon other projects already scheduled, but a quicker one, requiring only two or two and one-half years.
- 3. Use county money to superimpose a new deck on the present old bridge, taking about 18 months for the job at a cost of $250,000.
- 4. Abandon the bridge and deed it over to the Township.

"None of the above!" Freeholder Sigmund says firmly. "They all take too much time and we have an emergency situation."

Bridge Closing Deplored. Lewis B. Cuyler, president of the Historical Society, has written a letter on behalf of the Society to Arthur R. Sypek, County Executive, expressing concern "over the possible abandonment of the old bridge across Stony Brook."

"I hardly need point out," Mr. Cuyler writes, "that the major interest of the Historical Society is the preservation of the beauty and good taste of our community and the quality of our life here. It is obvious to the great majority of our citizens that their bridge is located within a National Historic Site, is a beautiful structure which is the center of one of the most attractive approaches to our town, and its abandonment would be a disaster.

"With so much opposition, it would seem essential to seek the consultation of an expert in antique bridges as advised by Mayor Josie Hall. Mrs. Greiff of our board also suggests that the County confer with Robert Vogel, curator of civil and mechanical engineering at the Smithsonian Institute, requesting his recommendation of such a consultant who would place proper weight on the aesthetics of the problem.

"...It is quite impossible to think that a great deal cannot be done, at a great saving in cost, to restore this bridge to a long life of operating condition."

GROUND BREAKING!
At High School. After the last student assembly of the school year next Tuesday morning, ground will be broken for the new Princeton High School gym, first phase of the building's extensive remodeling.

The assembly, at 8:30 a.m. in the auditorium, will feature installation of next year's student body officers. After the assembly, students and audience will move outside.

B. Woodhull Davis, former superintendent of the Borough school system and first principal of the "new" high school whose cornerstone was laid just 50 years ago, will be one of the guests. He will be joined by Chester A. Stroup, another former Superintendent of the Borough system, and William Rhodes, former principal of the high school.

Ground will be broken by school board president Winthrop Pike and

MAY TRY LEGAL ACTION

To Foil House Sale. Neighbors around the 142 Hodge Road house purchased from the state by members of the group known as "The Friends," have retained a lawyer to see whether they can keep the sale from going through.

Samuel Lambert III, a Princeton attorney, has agreed to represent the residents. According to Howard Menand, who lives next door to the house, property-owners may take the state to court for selling the house below the price suggested last year by the Legislature. That price was $215,000. The purchasers, John and Diane Desiderio, agreed to pay $212,500, and were the highest of five bidders.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Desiderio have also hired a lawyer. He is Alexander Menza, defeated last week in the Democratic Senatorial primary.

Mrs. Desiderio and three other young women called on Mr. and Mrs. Menand last week, Mr. Menand said. Members of the group have been visiting families in the Hodge Road area---sometimes admitted to a house, sometimes not-----offering to answer whatever questions residents may have.

Clash in Religions? Mrs. Desiderio asked whether we had any questions she might answer," Mr. Menand reported, "I asked whether their group followed the Christian religion----they don't like the word 'cult'---and she said yes, they were all Christians. Then I asked how that fitted in with following Eastern mysticism and she said she didn't see a conflict."

Mrs. Desiderio also told Mr. Menand that neither she nor her husband had ever been inside the house they purchased. The house was bought by the state as the residence for the Commissioner of Higher Education, Ralph Dungan. When Mr. Dungan left job and house, the dwelling remained vacant and fell into disrepair.

Mrs. Desiderio is said to have told residents with whom she talked that she and her husband will live alone in the house. The group has sometimes been called a commune, and neighbors have feared that the house, with its ten bedrooms, might be a headquarters for the group. Borough zoning regulations restrict the number of unrelated people and the number of roomers who can live in a single-family house in that zone.

STEREO IS STOLEN

From Patton Hall. A stereo receiver and turntable, valued at $400, were stolen last week from a student's room in Patton Hall on the Princeton University campus. Police report it is unknown if the room was locked.

The theft of a $300 camera in a black leather case from a student's room in Foulke Hall on the university campus was reported Friday. Police said the theft had taken place a week earlier.

A walkie-talkie valued at $250 was stolen Thursday afternoon when it was left unattended between 4:15 and 5:15 in a guard's shack at a parking lot off Maclean Street. The lot is being used by Princeton Medical Center during its building expansion.

A Lafayette Road resident told police that her purse was stolen Friday from a desk top in her room between 2 and 5 p.m. A wallet inside contained $100.

Another purse containg $40 was stolen last week from a kitchen table in a home on Linden Lane while the occupant were inside. The theft took place between 9 and 10 p.m.

The purse was found the next day--minus the money--on Linden Lane. Police said the victims had not reported the theft.

A Princeton High School student reported on Monday the theft, between 8:15 a.m. and 12:15 p.m., of her blue 10-speed bicyle from the school arch, and Township police report the theft last week of an AM-FM 8-track stereo worth $170 from a car parked in the Princeton Shopping Center lot. They identified the owner as Peter Ferrara, 476 N. Harrison. His car had been forced open.

Flatout Forecast

Only One More
Week of Spring
Bet it's Wet as Anything

About the only sure bet is that spring will end – to be succeeded by summer – at 2:10 next Wednesday afternoon.

It has, of course, been an abnormally wet spring following upon a cold and snowy winter. To make some small amends, the last week of the current season should be largely enjoyable, weather-wise.

Tuesday's rain is expected to be followed by warmer weather Wednesday with skies generally sunny right into the weekend. Saturday afternoon showers are a possibility, the Man admits, but the sun is expected to be with us again next day and temperatures throughout the period are unlikely to rise much above the high 70's.

GREEN RESIGNS

As Real Estate Director. Grant D. Green, director of real estate at Princeton University, has announced his resignation, effective June 30.

It was simultaneously announced by John R. White, president of Landauer Associates, Inc., that Mr. Green has been named vice-president in charge of disposition consulting with the Landauer organization and will assume his new duties on July 1. Landauer is a national real estate consulting firm with headquarters in New York and offices in Atlanta, West Palm Beach, Los Angeles and Santa Ana, Calif.

Grant D. Green

Mr. Green, a member of the Princeton University class of 1948, has served as director of the University's Real Estate Department since 1970. He has been manager of all University-owned property not directly used for academic purposes, has overseen the acquisition and disposition of real estate, and has administered the University's mortgage loan program and other matters pertaining to institutional property holdings.

In recent years, he has also been involved in the planning and development of the Princeton Forrestal Center, the 1800-acre planned multi-use office and research complex sponsored by Princeton University. A member of the board of directors of Palmer Square, Inc., Mr. Green has also represented the University before municipal councils and committees, planning and zoning boards and other government bodies in the Princeton area.

Mr. Green will continue to reside in Princeton with his wife, Marian, and two children, Christopher and Sallie, both students at Princeton High School. He will be located at Landauer Associates' headquarters office at 200 Park Avenue, New York City, and in addition to his vice presidential duties will provide general consulting services for the firm's corporate and institutional clients.

The University said that real estate matters formerly handled by Mr. Green should be referred to Eugene J. McPartland, general manager of plant, while a search is conducted for a successor.

APPROVAL PROTESTED

Of Mt. Lucas Building. Mount Lucas Road residents who belong to the Mt. Lucas Associates neighborhood organization have filed an appeal with Township Committee protesting Planning Board approval of the plans of Marketing Survey and Research Corporation to build an office building on Mt. Lucas.

This Wednesday, when Committee meets at 8 p.m. in Township Hall, it will consider a recommendation from the Planning Board regarding the same project. A pond, with dam and spillway, is part of the tract, but it covers two or three adjacent properties. The board suggests that work on the pond be undertaken by the Township as a local improvement, with costs then assessed to the properties involved.

The ordinance to amend the surface drainage ordinance was on the agenda for next Wednesday, June 21. Hearing has now been postponed indefinitely, awaiting a conference between Killam Associates, the Township's drainage consultants, with General William Whipple of the Flood Control Committee.

Construction of Snowden Lane's new culvert has been put into ordinance form and will be introduced this Wednesday, along with ordinances providing $30,000 for overlay on Mercer Road and purchase of a pair of dumptrucks.

In work session, Committee will discuss the Mercer Road bike path, and construction problems on the Mountain Avenue bike path. Also, the Medical Center has written Committee about tis problems with the state regarding additional beds, and Committee will decide whether to act or not.

Last Wednesday, Committee changed parking regulations on the rest of Race Street--having acted earlier on another segment--and accepted Thanet Road.

Bunn Drive assessments, a long-standing problem with Committee, were returned once again to the Board of Improvement Assessors, but Committee did confirm assessments for American Can and Galpur, Inc., which earlier had been challenged.

The bid for The Great Road bike path extension was $4,000 over the amount in hand, and Committee rejected it and planned to advertise once again. Some $12,300 remains from the money anonymously given for construction of the main path, but the bid came in at $16,335.

Anne Truitt, 144 Riverside, was named to the Joint Commission on Aging.

HEAVY AGENDA

For E.D.R.C. A tightly-packed Environmental Design Review Committee agenda has spilled over into next week. Borough applicants--including the Borough itself for its garage--were heard Monday. Township applicants will be on the agenda of a special meeting next Monday.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Room 208 of the Valley Road building.

Meanwhile, the Planning Board has moved forward the time of its June 26 work session to allow time for two applications that were stopped by the clock at the June 5 meeting. The applications are those of Solar Construction, Inc., and John H.M. Bever.

The new time is 7 p.m. instead of 8. The Valley Road building is still the meeting place.

BEER EXCHANGE FOILED

Two Students Charged. Two Hun School students were arrested last week after one allegedly purchased beer and handed it over to the other.

According to police, James A. Mahony, 18, of Washington Crossing, Pa., last week purchased three six packs of beer at Varsity Liquors, 234 Nassau Street. He handed one to a 17-year old Hun student from Trenton and was heading toward a group of other youths when he was intercepted by Ptl. William Nathan.

Mahony was charged with illegally purchasing liquor for a minor; the 17-year old as a juvenile in possesion of alcholic beverages.

Earlier the same day, Ptl. Randy Sutton observed a 17-year old Borough youth riding a bicycle and carrying two six packs of beer on Nassau Street near Elm Drive leading to the campus.

He was charged as a minor in possession of alcohol and turned over to Borough Juvenile Officer Douglas Watson.

WILD GOOSE KILLED

Two Juveniles Charged. Two Trenton juveniles, 16 and 17, have been charged by the Township juvenile officer with killing a wild goose out of season.

They were allegedly seen, by a passerby who lived in the area, killing the goose in the Stony Brook area behind 492 Pretty Brook Road. Township police patrols responded but were unable to locate the two suspects, whom the caller said were carrying fishing poles.

Later, the person reporting the crime observed the youths and held them until the police arrived. They were turned over to Juvenile Officer Anthony Pinelli for processing.

Suppose They Held Court...

...and no one came. It almost happened Monday evening in Borough traffic court.

There were 19 violations to be heard by Judge Philip Carchman--nine for overdue inspection--but only one person, a Somerville resident, showed up.

WRECKAGE PATH LEFT

By Runaway Car. Two traffic signs, 16 feet of cyclone fence, a wooden barricade and two gasoline pumps were in the path of a car that left the Witherspoon Street roadway early Saturday morning and brought injury to the driver, Nathaniel J. McKee, 715 Erdman Avenue.

Mr. McKee received lacerations of the head. His 1967 sedan was a total loss.

Shortly before 2 in the morning, his car left Witherspoon Street some 250 feet from Guyot Avenue. It jumped the curb and struck two traffic warning signs, crossed the sidewalk and ran over a 16-foot section of cyclone fencing, the property of Princeton Regional School system.

It continued across an in-ground water tank and struck a 15-foot wooden barricade on the property of Culligan Water, 345 Witherspoon. From there it crossed into the Tiger Garage gasoline pump area, climbed the "island" and struck two gas pumps and a light post before coming to rest. In all, the McKee car traveled 141 feet after leaving the road.

Ptl. Peter Savalli reported there were no skid marks or apparent attempts to stop. Mr. McKee told him he had fallen asleep prior to the accident. There were were no charges.

Hit and Run. More property damage was caused by a hit-and-run driver last week on Shady Brook Lane.

Shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday, a car left the road, struck and uprooted a mailbox in front of 306 Shady Brook before hitting a Public Service pole. It came back on the road for 45 feet and then jumped the curb again. It damaged 63 feet of lawn, hit a tree in front of 296 and traveled another 21 feet across the lawn before heading back on the roadway.

Police were able to determine from a hubcap and impact bumper found at the scene that the car was a maroon Chevrolet. Sgt. Michael Kopliner investigated.

Hare-Raising Mishap. Last week when Maryann Alloway, 47, 33 Willow Road, Lawrenceville, veered to the right to avoid hitting a rabbit on Mercer Road, she missed the rabbit but struck a Public Service pole between Gallup and Quaker roads.

She was treated for facial cuts at Princeton Medical Center. There were no charges by Ptl. John Hammond.

CIRCUS COMING

As Chamber Benefit. The Great American Circus, a big under-canvas show, is coming to Princeton under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, June 29. There will be performances at 4 and 8 in tents at the Princeton Shopping Center.

An advance sale of circus tickets, at reduced prices, is now in progress throughout the area by Chamber of Commerce members and aides. The funds raised will be devoted to the civic and charitable activities of the organization.

Stars from around the world have been recruited for this year's tour of the circus.

Featured from Spain are the Tonito family of trampoline artists; from South America, the Vincent Trio, who perform feats high atnp the trapeze; from the Middle East, the Great Sampo, who has outstanding dexterity as a juggler; Miss Mimi Paska, French queen of the high trapeze; Miss Dolly and her educated horses, and Miss Marie and her canine revue.

Other features include Capt. Dick James and his performing elephants; an aerial ballet high in the big top and the antics of the circus clowns.

PROGRAM UNDER WAY

For League Nursery School. The University League Nursery School is holding a summer program through the month nf June (See picture, page 1.)

Contact Lenses Missing?

Borough police have in their possession a pair of contact lenses found last week in the Witherspoon parking lot next to the Public Library. They are in a small, white plastic case.

"We have 'em if someone wants to claim them," said Capt. Theodore Lewis.

Under the guidance of director Mary Longman and teachers Terry Daughney and Mary Ann Alloway, some 30 preschoolers participate in creative outdoor activities at five work centers set up in the playground at 171 Broadmead. Two trips have been planned for the youngsters, one to the Washington Crossing Park nature center and the other to get a behind-the-scenes look at the Burger King restaurant on Rte. 1.

All children who attend the University League Nursery School during the year are eligible to participate in the summer program. Applications and scholarship information for the fall program are available by calling Diane Unruh at 921-0063.

NEW NAME, NEW LOGO: Admiring the new logo for the newly-named United Way-Princeton Area Communities are James Stewart (seated), United Way President and (standing) Albert J. Menello, Chairman of the Princeton Red Cross, a partner of the United Way; Catherine Phillips, Director of the Princeton Community Home Health Aide Service, a member of United Way Agency; and Janet Pearson, Director of the Council of Community Services, a member agency and its planning arm.

FUND CHANGES NAME

To "United Way." The Princeton Area United Community Fund has announced a name change and will henceforth be known as the United Way--Princeton Area Communities. The step was taken to identify the fund-raising organization here more closely with its national counterpart.

In making the announcement, James Stewart, III, United Way president for the 13 communities served here, said, "The change is important because it will now give us the benefit of the broad national publicity which is made available, in most instances free of charge, under the logo United Way. We will be able to purchase campaign supplies printed in mass nationally at a much lower cost than we could here.

"The new name will in no way mean we will change our method of operating, since we will continue the same successful methods used in past years." He also stated that the new United Way logo will be used in all publicity and that shortly after the June meeting of the Board of Trustees, the first campaign goal under the new name will be announced.

"Another significant development in our local United Way operation," Mr. Stewart continued, "is the recent approval by the Board of our joining a partnership arrangement with the United Way of Tri-State. This does not imply a major change in our operating techniques but rather will be an enhancement of our fund-raising capabilities among our corporations here with national offices located in the Tri-State area encompassing northern New Jersey, Metropolitan New York, and southeastern Connecticut.

"In this partnership, the leaders of Tri-State in conjunction with our volunteers will make contacts with the national headquarters of Princeton area corporations to enlist support for larger corporate and employee contributions in all the local operations of these organizations. Last fall, the Tri-State, in its first year of operation, was successful in raising an average 12.3 percent increase in both corporate and employee giving among these firms. This was shared with the 22 United Ways which had joined in this partnership during its first year of operation.

The newly-named United Way-Princeton Area Communities will continue to serve 13 areas, including Princeton, Hightstown, Cranbury, Plainsboro, East Windsor, Kingston, Montgomery Township, Rocky Hill, Skillman, West Windsor, Hopewell, Lawrence, and South Brunswick townships. During 1977, some 35,000 individuals availed themselves of the various services of the Red Cross and the other 19 member agencies.

CAR WINDOW TARGET

Of Air Rifle. When Major Henderson of Trenton was turning off Moore Street onto Guyot last week, he told police he heard a popping sound.

A check revealed that his left vent car window had been shattered by, police believe, an air rifle pellet. There was no estimate of the damage.

NEW RANKS FOR NINE

On University Faculty. The promotion of nine Princeton University faculty members has been approved by the Board of Trustees, President William G. Bowen announced. The trustees also accepted nine resignations from the faculty and approved one transfer to emeritus status.

Three associate professors of biology, Henry S. Horn, William A. Newton and John W. Terborgh, will become full professors.

Dr. Horn, 36, received an A.B. from Harvard in 1962 and a Ph.D. from the University of Washington, Seattle, in 1966. An ecologist whose interests embrace animal ecology, forests, and vertebrate behavior, he joined the Princeton faculty in 1966 as an assistant professor and was promoted to associate professor in 1971.

Dr. Newton, who came to Princeton in 1966 as an assistant professor and became an associate professor in 1973, is 40 years old. He earned a B.S. from the University of Texas in 1959 and a Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley, in 1964.

Associate professor here since 1971, Dr. Terborgh, 41, received his A.B. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard in 1958 and 1963, respectively. In addition to teaching, he has performed extensive research in ornithology and ecology in Peru over the past 15 years.

Ulrich K. Laemmli and Abraham Worcel, both associate professors of biochemical sciences, will also be promoted to professor.

The 38-year-old Prof. Laemmli was educated in his native Switzerland at the Federal School of Technology, Zurich (A.B., 1964), and the University of Geneva (Ph.D., 1969). He did postdoctoral work at the Medical Research Council Laboratory of Molecular Biology in Cambridge, England, before coming to Princeton in 1971 as an assistant professor. He was made an associate professor in 1976.

Prof. Worcel, who joined the Princeton faculty in 1971 and became an associate professor in 1974, is 40 years old. He received his B.S. in 1954 from the Colegio Nacional Bartolome Mitre in Argentina, followed by his M.D in 1960 from the Facultad de Medicina, Universidad de Buenos Aires. In the 11 years before he came to Princeton, Prof. Worcel did medical research in the United States and France.

A.J. Stewart Smith, 39, a specialist in high energy experimental physics, will be promoted to professor of physics. An associate professor since 1973, Prof. Smith joined the physics faculty as an instructor in 1967, one year after he earned his Ph.D. from Princeton. He became an assistant professor in 1969. The University of British Columbia had granted him B.A. and M.Sc. degrees in 1959 and 1961, respectively.

Assistant Professor of Physics Frank Wilczek, 27, and Assistant Professor of Mathematics John Erik Fornaess, have been named associate professors in their departments. Dr. Wilczek, who earned his Ph.D. here in 1974, has been an assistant professor since 1975. He is a 1970 graduate of the University of Chicago.

A complex analyst, Dr. Fornaess became an instructor of mathematics here in 1974 and an assistant professor in 1976. He received the Cand. Mag. and Cand. Real degrees from the University of Oslo (Norway) in 1968 and 1970, respectively, and his Ph.D. from the University of Washington in 1974.

An instructor in the East Asian studies department for the past academic year, Ian H. Levy has been promoted to assistant professor for a three-year term ending June 30, 1981. He is a specialist in premodern Japanese literature with A.B. (1973) and Ph.D. (1978) degrees from Princeton.

All of the promotions are effective July 1, 1978.

The trustees also moved to accept the resignations of three associate professors and six assistant professors. Marc W. Kirschner and Harold M. Weintraub, both associate professors of biochemical sciences, are resigning to accept positions on the west coast: Kirschner at the University of California Medical School at San Francisco and Weintraub at the University of Washington. W. Curtis Banks, associate professor of psychology, will take a position at Educational Testing Service.

Thomas G. Szymanski, assistant professor of electrical engineering and computer science, is leaving for a position with Bell Laboratories. Assistant Professor of English Judith K. Wilt will go to Boston College, while Daniel M. Burns, assistant professor of mathematics, will accept a position at the University of Michigan. Assistant Professor of History Elaine T. May is taking a post at the University of Minnesota.

Alan F. Segal, assistant professor of religion, will assume a position at the University of Toronto, and Assistant Professor of Economics and Public Affairs Kemal Dervis will continue his research at the World Bank.

The trustees also designated librarian James S.K. Tung, who retired in June 1977, as Curator, Gest Oriental Library and East Asian Collections, Emeritus.

AWARDS DAY SET

At Tralning School. The Training School for Boys in Skillman, will hold its Ninth annual Achievement Award Day Friday, June 16. The theme will be "We're Making Our Own Way," and recognition of the year's achievements in many areas will be given to the boys.

A small monetary sum will be placed in each boy's account for the awards. Mrs. Geoffrey E. Sage, volunteer coordinator, Training School for Boys, obtains funds for these special items from many volunteers whose names will be listed in the program.

Highlights of the day will include performances by the chorus and band with Cheryl Daniels directing; a tumbling show put on by the gymnastic team under the direction of Robert Smallwood, physical education teacher; a slide presentation of scenes from the 1977-78 school year; a dance demonstration under the direction of Tracy Smith and Fran Stepp and a musical staff-production, also under the direction of Ms. Daniels.

Displays in the gymnasium will be provided by the art and the industrial arts classes. The community is invited to attend the program which begins at 1 p.m.

OPPORTUNE WINNER: "With beef prices going up, this was kind of an opportune time to win it," observed Len Basting (right), winner of the hind quarter of beef donated to the Princeton Hospital Fete by Albert Toto Jr., owner of Toto's Market, 74 Witherspoon Street. Looking on is Kethy Rolph, chairman of the Fete's Beef Rattle. Approximately 1050 tickets wre sold and Mr. Toto noted in the four years that he hes been donating the beef, some $2500 to $2800 has been raised for the Medical Center. A resident of Cherry Hill, Mr. Basting has been in Princeton while his firm, Security Elevator Co., is installing elevators in the Princeton Savings and Loan Building and et the Theological Seminary. He revealed that he has five children and thet he will be able to put his prize to good use.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

As Democratic Delegate. Barbara Sigmund, 8 Evelyn Place, Mercer County Freeholder, will be the female delegate representing the 5th Congressional District at the national Democratic Mid-Term Convention in Memphis. The Convention will be held this December.

Freeholder Sigmund won the position in last week's primary. She was opposed by three other Democrats.

'LANDMARKS' POSTPONED

To September. At the request of the Historic Sites Committee, consideration of the Borough's landmarks ordinance has been postponed until September. Council was originally scheduled to hold public hearing on it this Tuesday.

"I think the Historic Sites Committee is a little weary of putting up trial balloons and having them shot down," Mayor Robert W. Cawley observed, commenting on various changes suggested by the committee to make the ordinance more palatable to its opponents.

"Actually, no strong case has been made either for the need for this ordinance, or for the harm it would do to a property-owner," the mayor added. "Historic Sites must either mount a strong sales campaign, or accept an emasculated compromise."

Consolidation Study Commission to Consist Of Five Residents from Each Municipality

Want to be on the consolidation study commission? If approval of such a commission gets on the November ballot--and the way petition signatures are coming in, it looks as though it will, according to members of the ad hoc committee--voters in Borough and Township will be asked to elect ten Commissioners--each municipality chooses five--to study consolidation and determine whether it's feasible at this time.

The first consolidation discussion meetings Monday night drew the barest minimum of interest from Princeton residents. Only one showed up in the Township, half a dozen in the Borough. The Township citizen, Mrs. Louis Wile, 184 Shady Brook Lane, said she might run as a possible representative of older residents. She did not commit herself on one side or the other of the consolidation issue.

In the Borough, most of the questinns were raised by Mark Jones, 159 Library Place, who has previously stated his position against consolidating the two Princetons.

Those who would like to run for a position on the study commission must obtain signatures representing five percent of the vote in the last election--161 in the Borough and 277 in the Township. Petitions must be completed and filed 40 days before the November election, or sometime the last week in September. For a sample petition valid for mailing, see Page 14B

VOLUNTEER FIRE COMPANIES AIDED. Firefighting protection in Montgomery Township hes been given a boost by donations of $1,000 to each of two volunteer fire companies by the Johnson & Johnson Baby Products Company Diaper Plant, located in the township. The firefighting units, volunteer companies one end two, both serve the plant. Pictured at the presentation ceremonies are (left to right) Leonard Hunt, president of volunteer company number two; Arthur Parsell, chief; John J. Entwistle, director of operations, disposables division, for the Baby Products Company; and Allen Anderson, diaper plant manager.

MEDICAL BUILDING?

First Hearing Held. On a Saturday morning in June--9 a.m., June 24--the Township Zoning Board and interested citizens will sit down for a second time to hear the request of Nassau Medical Arts for permission to build at the intersection of State Road, Bayard Lane and Mountain Avenue. The meeting will be in Township Hall.

The first, formal presentation and cross-examinations were held last Wednesday, and the Saturday meeting is apparently unavoidable--because of vacation schedules and quorum problems. Under the law, only the board members present at this first presentation may vote on the case.

Architect Jeremiah Ford, whose firm--Short & Ford--is a principal in Nassau Medical Arts, told the board and neighbors who packed into the small Valley Road conference room, about plans for the project. (Related story on Page 1B.)

On the 2.54-acre plot would be built a two-story building consisting of 19,845 square feet divided into 12 suites for doctors or dentists. The existing house would be converted to two-family use.

No traffic would enter from Bayard Lane, only from an entrance across the new Mountain Avenue Extension from the Community Park North parking lot. Parking would be provided for 104 patients' cars (the zoning ordinance requires 99), 16 doctors' cars and 29 staff cars. A berm, similar to the present one, would go along Route 206.

Architect's Sketch. Mr. Ford presented a drawing showing how the parcel would look if it were developed as the zoning law allows, with five houses. Their back yards would be on Route 206, he said, two additional driveways would be required and the homes would be "unmarketable."

Jerry Laeserin, planner, presented as witness by Nassau Medical Arts, said the project was linked to the kind of "services" in the area. He included in his service definition, the extensive park lands surrounding the project.

Mr. Laeserin told the board he regarded the office building as a "hospital," using standard dictionary definitions because the Township's ordinance does not define the term. The required use variance, in this residential zone, was justified by the medical care that would be provided, he said.

William Sutphin, attorney retained by residents protesting the building, asked Mr. Laeserin whether, if the building is a "hospital," its plans conform to New Jersey's requirements for a hospital. He asked how many beds and how much 24-hour nursing care would be provided. Mr. Laeserin said neither of these.

Granted permission by the Zoning Board to be an "intervener" for the Planning Board, the planners' attorney, Allan Porter, questioned Mr. Laeserin about his definition of a "service" area, when the parcel in question adjoins Community Park North. He also questioned whether a private, commercial enterprise could be defined as a "community facility."

In other questioning, Mr. Sutphin attempted unsuccessfully to find out the names of partners in the Nassau Medical Arts enterprise. Gordon Strauss, attorney for Nassau Medical Arts and himself a principal, said he would prefer not to give partners' names without notifying them first.

Medical Center, State Health Commissioner Cross Scalpels Over Justification of Its Campaign for an Additional 30 Beds

The scalpels were out this week between Princeton Medical Center president John W. Kauffman and New Jersey Commissioner of Health Joanne Finley.

Advertisements in last week's newspapers plus 28,000 letters urged residents of the area to protest state denial of permission to the Medical Center to add 30 medical-surgical beds.

So far, according to Medical Center spokesman Michael Loyack, "a couple of hundred" letters of response from the public have been received. Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick has reported "more than 40 letters and still coming," as of Monday.

Dr. Finley last week accused Mr. Kauffman of "deceptive public relations gimmickry" in placing the ads and mailing the letters. She also accused him of "a pitiful lack of concern about the well-being of inner-city hospitals, especially in Trenton."

Princeton's hospital is usually more than 100 percent full--it is exactly that this week, Mr. Lovack said---while four other Mercer County hospitals operate at less than 90 percent capacity. The State Planning and Coordinating Council has denied Princeton permission to add the 30 beds, saying that it wants to study the matter further.

State officials say Mr. Kauffman was asked to hold his application for a month. He declined to do so, and the Council voted to reject the Medical Center's application.

"A Personal Attack." Mr. Kauffman said in a statement this week that he was "shocked and grieved" that a state Commissioner of Health would make what he called a personal attack. He declared that Dr. Finley's own statement was an example of deceptive public relations, in that neither she nor anyone on her staff had telephoned or sent either letter or memo to the Medical Center.

"At no time has Commissioner Finley discussed the real issue, and why the admitted immediate needs for Princeton have not yet been approved," Mr. Kauffman said "Nearly two months have already passed since the non-endorsement vote by the Council. How many more months will Dr. Finley delay?"

Bed shortage, Mr. Kauffman says, means that patients have to wait for elective surgery, and are often rescheduled many times before they can be taken.

Dr. Finley suggested that Mr. Kauffman's campaign could cost so much it could result in higher rates at the hospital. Mr. Kauffman says money to pay for newspaper ads, radio time and postage came from the Center's building fund, and is a justifiable cost.

New Jersey's Opinion of Carter at Low Point; Those Backing His Performance Below 33%

President Carter's job rating has dropped to its lowest point since he took office. Less than one New Jerseyan in three now gives Carter high marks for his job performance, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

The statewide survey found that only 30 percent gave Carter marks of "excellent" or "good," while 68 percent gave him marks of "only fair" or "poor." While Carter received somewhat stronger support from members of his own party, negative marks outnumbered positive ones among Democrats, Independents and Republicans alike. Democrats evaluated Carter critically by a 56 percent negative to 43 percent positive margin, while Independents judged him unfavorably by a 71 to 26 percent margin and Republicans by a 83 to 14 percent margin.

These latest figures from the poll show a continued decline in Carter's popularity. Eagleton polls conducted through last fall saw the President's popularity stay at the majority level. Last October 54 percent said Carter was doing an excellent or good job while 44 percent rated his performance as only fair or poor.

However, a survey conducted in late January, at the end of Carter's first full year in office, found the President's support had dropped to only 37 percent positive and 61 percent negative. The latest Eagleton figures represent the lowest ebb in Carter's support since he took office.

Cliff Zukin, Associate Director of the Poll commented, "Neither the drop in unemployment nor the ratifications of the Panama Canal Treaties bolstered Carter's job rating, while the conflict and discussion over the treaties and Mideast arms sales may have further weakened him. People don't like to see their President involved in conflict--even if it's a conflict he wins."

Examination of an earlier Eagleton survey indicates that those who rated Carter favorably thought of him more in personal terms than did those who rated him unfavorably. Those who gave him negative marks were more likely to have done so based on his handling of policy matters.

In April, Eagleton asked respondents to explain their ratings of the President. Forty-four percent of those who rated Carter's job performance positively mentioned personal qualities such as honesty or sincerity, while only 22 percent of those who rated him negatively mentioned personal qualities.

Most of those who gave Carter a negative rating--55 percent--said they did so because of his handling of a domestic or foreign policy issue, such as the economy, energy or the Panama Canal. Only 37 percent of those who rated Carter positively said they did so for a policy reason.

Zukin noted, "Those who rate Carter positively do so mainly for his style--how he appears as President. Those who are less impressed most often mention substance--what he does or fails to do as President."

In explaining the drop in ratings Zukin also noted, that "approval slips as time passes and people see no major accomplishments. While Carter hasn't done any less than most new Presidents in their first year the expectations that accompanied him were greater. People seem to have become disenchanted as nothing happened quickly enough for them."

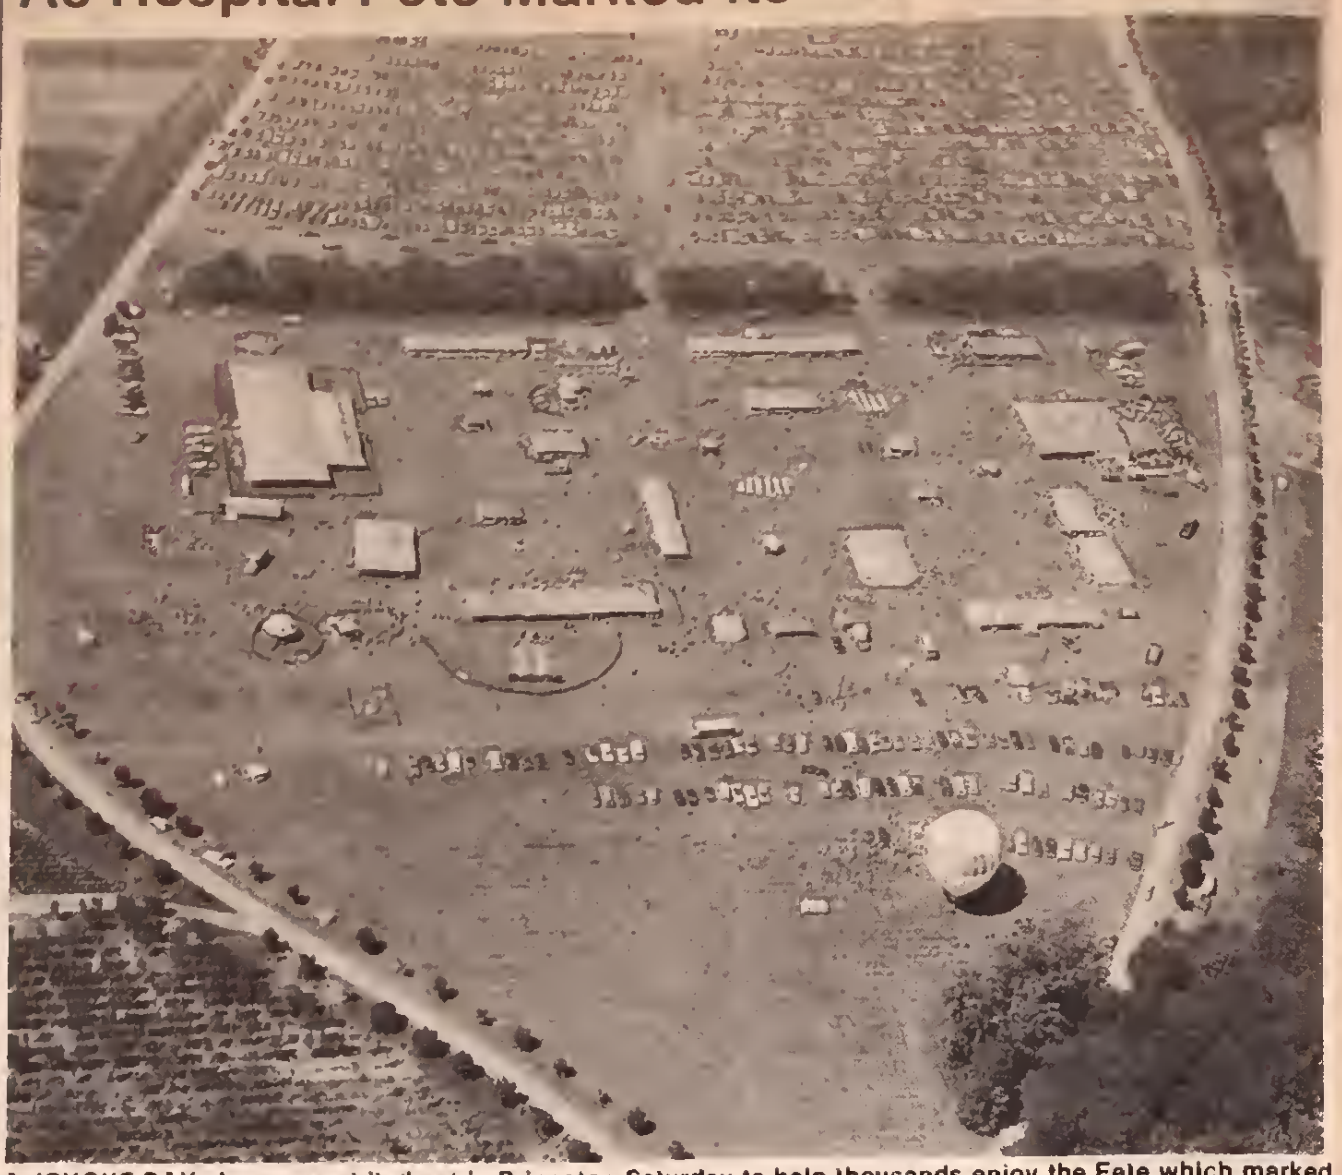
As Hospital Fete Marked Its Silver Anniversary



A JOYOUS DAY: June was at its best in Princeton Saturday to help thousands enjoy the Fete which marked the first quarter-century of such benefits for the Medical Center. Names of winners of various drawings and events are included in the report below. (Walter Marz Aerial Photo)

Blessed with perfect weather, the Silver Fete, staged Saturday for the benefit of the Medical Center at Princeton, was one of the most successful in the long line of events which began in 1954. The warm sunshine attracted to the Washington Road field huge crowds who ate, played, bit, bought, ran and won at the Fete's many booths, concessions, games and events.

Paul Tellier of Montgomery visited the Fete early and while there purchased a raffle ticket for a 1978 Silver Thunderbird. At the 5 p.m. drawing, he became the owner of the car, donated by Nassau-Connver Motor Company. Another lucky Fete-goer was Len Bastine, who won a prime hind quarter of beef from Toto's market. Mrs. D.R. Graham of West Windsor won a 45-piece set of Temperware from Lenox.

In children's drawings, Anne Jacob of Princeton was awarded a huge gorilla from Toy Carousel, while Philip Roemer of Princeton became the owner of a giant green frog for her brother.

Conspicuous Consumption. Taking time out for lunch, hungry crowds consumed 115 dozen doughnuts, 1,008 quarts of strawberries, more than 400 strawberry shortcakes, 800 hoagies and 8,000 hamburgers and hotdogs. The Lions Club's 2,000 pieces of chicken arrived two hours late, but by 11:30 the chicken was on the grill. The Lions sold out, as did many of the other food booths.

At 3 the crowd thronged to the Hospital fete, to cheer about 450 entrants on as they started the 10-kilometer run. A little over a half hour later, Eamon Downey crossed the finish line with a time of 32:58.5. In addition to Downey, top finishers were Paul Fetscher, Greg Griffin, Pippa Holman, Gina Marig Sisbabro and Patty Goias.

By age categoreis other top finishers included John Garthwaite and Lisa Stewart, 14 and under; Ralph Muldron and Marie Sheehan, 15-19; Alan Kleinsasser and Fairfax Hutter, 20-29; Gary B. Rosenberg and Linda Lockard, 30-39; Thomas Fort and Jane Goodman, 40-49; Richard Snedieker and Meredith Laugberg, 50-59; and Helga Eisler, 60 and over.

The Super-Star Obstacle Course attracted a number of contestants who competed against the clock. Winners of this event were Rebecca Hollander anu Mike Srednawski, 6 and under; Kerry Lattanzio and Richard Webe, 7-8 years old; Sara Strachan and Don Shaffer, 9-10; Melanie Nosal and Joe Leddy, 11-12; Val Vauttorn and John Perkins, 13-14; Karen Piper and Mike Santoro, 15-16; Hermina Wert and Bob Mangone, 17-30; and Vince Noonan, 30 and over.

Auction Popular. At the Auction tent, business was brisk from early in the morning. The tent was filled by 11 and many people remained through the day to bid on such diverse items as a Federal chest, a 1967 Buick, china and, of course, silver. The Lane of Shops also attracted its fill of bargain hunters.

Everywhere on the field there were happy faces, especially from children who climbed aboard a fire engine for a ride around the field, won a goldfish at the fish pond, went for a pony ride or played one of the many games of chance. Their parents were seen carrying bright red geraniums or hanging baskets from the garden tent or stocking up on frozen soups, desserts and other dishes.

All in all, it was a "super day," said Fete co-chairman Lynne Long. "If the amount of fun people had is indicative of success, then this Fete has been a tremendous success."

"We were thrilled to celebrate the anniversary Fete with such a huge crowd," added co-chairman Mary Ann Linton. She praised the help and cooperation of the many people who made the Silver Fete a "truly sterling affair."

JOHN A. STEPHENSON

Named to New Post At Hun School. John A. Stephenson has been appointed Director of Development at The Hun School.

He will succeed Theodore P. McNulty, who has held this position for the past seven years and plans to return to the classroom on a full-time basis. Mr. McNulty will also assume responsibility for the position of alumni secretary and will assist the Development Office in other capacities.

Mr. Stephenson has been associated with The Hun School since 1974. During this time, he has been the college counselor, has taught psychology, and has been the co-chairman of Hun's long-range planning committee. Prior to his association with Hun, he was vice-president of MBA Resources, Inc., a management consulting firm in New York City which specializes in executive recruiting, equity financing and organizational analysis studies.

Mr. Stephenson received his undergraduate degree from Yale University and a master of science degree in industrial psychology from Purdue University. The college counselor's position will be filled by James G. Lovell, who comes to Hun from the Hawken School in Gates Mills, Ohio.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

MOSQUITO CONTROL: CLEAN UP DEBRIS AND ELIMINATE THE WATER POCKETS

by Sem deTuro

Mosquito control should begin in spring with the elimination of all refuse around the home grounds and the eradication of pockets that could hold as little as a teaspoon of water for 9 to 10 days. That's all the time and water needed for mosquito breeding purposes.

Even crotches on such trees as Elm and Beech should be cleaned out and filled to prevent water collecting in them to serve as mosquito breeding places.

Mosquitos can breed in the axils of some plant leaves, in clogged rain gutters, empty cans and other litter in vacant lots. Cleanup of such debris should be on a community basis.

Aeration of ponds in the suburbs as well as spraying with proper insecticides reduces mosquito infestations. Intakes and outflows from such ponds should be kept free so that there is a flow of water.

Spraying before a lawn party could be effective in combatting mosquitos, but a sudden shift of wind could bring in mosquitos from miles around. Some mosquitos can fly 15 miles by their own wing-power, and may be carried by winds equally far.

Tree specialists who keep trees free of chewing and sucking insects are being called upon by home owners now to help eradicate mosquitos. Any annoying insects detract from the joy of outdoor living.

PHS TO GRADUATE 264

At Commencement Thursday. In commencement exercises this Thursday at 6:30 in Jadwin Gymnasium, 264 members of the Princeton High School class of 1978 will receive their diplomas. A list of the graduates is on page 15.

In the tradition of high school graduations, the seniors will march into the gym to the music of Sir Edward Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," played by the high school Commencement Band under Lewis Wyatt.

The Rev. Dr. Frederic Fox, whose daughter Hannah ("Amy") is one of the graduates, will give both the Invocation and Benediction. Ms. Fox' mother, Hannah Fox, is a member of the board of education.

Gail Harrje, president of the class, will give the Address of Welcome, followed by Julie Lewin, class salutatorian. The class Valedictory will be delivered by Karen Liu, valedictorian of the class of 1978.

Winthrop S. Pike, president of the board of education, Superintendent of Schools Paul Houston and Princeton High School Principal George Petrillo, will present the diplomas.

The program will conclude with the singing of "Alma Mater" by the senior class, the salute to the flag led by the class president and the singing of "The Star-spangled Banner" by class and audience. Mr. Wyatt will lead the band and the singers.

The Recessional will be "Ceremonial Recessional" by James Ployhar, played by the Commencement Band.

GRADUATION HELD

At Stuart School. Thirty-one seniors received diplomas at the 14th graduation ceremony at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart on Friday afternoon, June 9. Mrs. Helmuth Cords, a former faculty member, delivered the address at the Commencement which took place in the front garden at Stuart.

The graduates, their parents and friends, began the day with a Mass at 9 a.m., celebrated by the Rev. Charles B. Weiser, a member of the advisory board at Stuart.

The Liturgy of Commencement was planned by the members of the Senior Class who participated in the selected readings and in the prayers. Michele Nicastro and Katrina Jones, both graduating seniors, sang and played during the service. Following the Mass the Seniors joined the entire upper school in the auditorium where prizes and certificates of distinction were awarded.

Formal graduation activities took place at 5 p.m. when the seniors gathered in the garden for the traditional procession Sister Joan Magnetti, Headmistress, awarded the diplomas. Edward O Cole, chairman of the advisory board introduced the speaker, and Thomas Yoder, a member of the religion department and campus ministry at Stuart, gave the invocation.

Francesca DiBianco, the Class Valedictorian, delivered the Valedictory address, and Catherine McVay gave the Salutatory welcome. Miss DiBianco was awarded the Stuart Faculty Award for her outstanding contribution to the school and also the President's Prize from the Women's College Club. The Bishop W. Ahr Medal for Religion was presented to Jacqueline Freda, and the 1978 award, also given by the Women's College Club, was won by Jane Bennett.

NEW HOME FOUND

For The Woman's Place. The Woman's Place: Resource Center, formerly of 14½ Witherspoon Street, is now located at 1687 Lawrence Road, (Route 206), Lawrenceville, adjacent to the Institute for Experiential Learning and Development. The new telephone number is (609) 771-1424.

Lack of funds and volunteers necessitated the move from Princeton last March and the elimination of many former activities. The Woman's Place is continuing to provide referrals daily to women with medical, legal, financial, employment or other problems.

Volunteer staffers are on hand every weekday evening to give the names of professionals recommended for their competence and non-sexist attitude, as well as tradespeople with special services for women. Visitors are invited to drop in, look over and borrow feminist literature and periodicals, or discuss a problem. Current staffing hours are: Monday, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday, 9 to noon and 5 to 6:30; Wednesday, 4 to 6; Thursday, 9 to noon and 6:30 to 8, and Friday, 7:30 to 9:30. At other times, messages are taken and calls returned as soon as possible.

Volunteers are needed for staffing, publicity, fundraising, correspondence, educational literature and bulletin boards. Donations of funds are also welcome.

The Woman's Place was originally founded in 1972 by a task force of Central New Jersey NOW. During its six-year stay in Princeton, it served as a center for social gatherings, mini-courses, art shows, writers' workshops and counseling services, and referred thousands of women to appropriate professionals.

BUYS BARGAINS and Beautiful Things

THE COOK'S TOUR of summer has started at the COOKERY WARE SHOPPE. The shop is just filled with mouth-watering goodies for your summer kitchen - like the revolutionary new Fruit Ripener . . . a specially designed unbreakable pear in clear acrylic which attractively displays the fruit while it scientifically ripens it to perfection. Or the new stainless steel grill baskets created for campfire or fireplace cooking. And there is a plethora of molds for summer salads, aprons for backyard chefs and those hard-to-find clam steamers for hungry beachcombers. 794-8477
COOKERY WARE SHOPPE

A LITTLE BIT WILL DO YA! That's a little bit of NUT KETTLE'S new Cinnamon-Orange Spice Tea. One Teaspoon will make three glasses of the best iced tea or three cups of exotic steaming hot tea. Try a ¼ pound of loose tea or take home a box of 24 bags - it's a perfect summertime treat. 794-8494
NUT KETTLE

PRINTS CHARMING from the Mysterious East are newly arrived at THE YANKEE CLIPPER SHOPPE. Many of the shop's new arrivals are museum reproductions and all are beautifully mounted and framed - ready to that inscrutable Oriental mood wherever you want it. When you visit, be sure to see the exquisite Geisha floor screen created with handpainted silk.
YANKEE CLIPPER 794-7322

ON THE WILD SIDE is the new collection of The Aynsley Animal Kingdom. Not-so-miniature wildlife is created in English Bone China and completely hand painted by the artists at Aynsley China - a fact that naturally limits the number of animals that can be made. Each is a collector's delight and makes a perfect gift because they are priced so well. HOUSE OF BEKORE has the entire collection for your gift-hunting safari.
HOUSE OF BEKORE 794-7572

PACKAGED GOODS are what's new in NEW DIRECTIONS. Special little gift packs for your favorite kitchen person are really fun presents. Give a wire egg basket filled with all the utensils needed for egg cookery. Or choose from a mesh salad basket, a flour pot or a cake tin - each filled with coordinating utensils.

"Funny Question" Evaluated.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

..The enigmatic response to TOWN TOPICS "funny question" to a former Planning Board member (TOWN TOPICS, a June 7) looks even funnier, once you think about it. The anonymous "member" was asked "whether the township is making drainage restrictions deliberately severe as a way to fend off developers and hold down growth in the municipality."to which he or she reportedly smiled and said, "Funny you should ask that question."

Just about every ex-Planning Board member sufficiently au courant even to be asked the question was on the Board long enough to be well versed in the need for strong flood control measures and was directly involved in the Board's review and official recommendation of the present runoff control ordinance to Township Committee for adoption. Several of the ex-members even voted as members of Township Committee for its adoption in December of 1975.

Complaints by engineers and developers about the costs involved--"thousands of dollars in additional engineering expenses"--are to be expected. But recent experiences (and the first) with the present ordinance would hardly qualify as an index, since in those cases the engineers chose to proceed in a number of directions different from those prescribed in the ordinance.

One volunteered that he hadn't even read the ordinance the first time around. Compliance at the beginning would have spared them the costs of considerable later engineering work in order to comply.

Neither of course should the detention basins now in place be taken as an indication of the general effectiveness of the requirements of the ordinance, since none has yet been built according to the standards.

It shouldn't be necessary to emphasize why in Princeton, where several branches of Harry's Brook (as well as Stony Brook) have aroused over the years public clamor for something to be done about flooding and erosion, we should need runoff control from new development and stream protection measures. Many New Jersey communities long ago recognized that simple regulation of development in flood plains is not enough. The reason is simple: As development takes place upstream, the flood plain rises above its earlier bounds.

For New Jersey a specific analysis, published in 1974 by the U.S. Geological Survey in conjunction with the N.J. Division of Water Resources, indicates that devlopment will increase flood peaks "up to three times at 2-year intervals of flood recurrence and up to 1.8 times at 100-year intervals on statewide averages." Obviously the individual figures will be higher or lower depending upon a number of factors, such as distance from headwaters to basin, differences in elevation, natural cover, etc.

The policy of many communities now is to require developers to control runoff from storms of rare intensity and frequency. So does the Township's policy, and one has only to pore through local rainfall statistics and back through local newspapers or to talk with householders who've experienced the more extreme forms of damage to see why.

If the Township's criteria are not realistic, then someone should show, in light of those statistics, why not.

Garage Concept Unsound.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I began looking into the proposed 800-car parking garage because of the possible harmful effect on the library. I now question the soundness of the whole idea.

My major concern is the mind-boggling traffic and attendant noise-pollution that will occur at peak (early morning-late afternoon) periods when 500-600 cars attempt to enter or leave at much the same time. I'm sure traffic studies will be produced indicating that the Spring Street area can accommodate the anticipated flow, but 12 years on the Zoning Board of Adjustment has made me a mite skeptical of traffic reports by outside experts.

If we accept the fact that some sort of garage facility is needed to assist the business community, cannot better solutions be found? I suggest the following: Let Palmer Square, Inc. provide garage space for 200 cars as originally proposed. Let the Borough begin more modestly by erecting a 300-car facility on the southeast side of Spring-Tulane Streets.

This arrangement would: 1) provide a better geographical spread of the garage traffic, and 2) give us a year or two to live with these new facilities before deciding whether additional garage space should be provided.

Borough Hall Asked to Help.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

By this time, we are all aware of the shortage of beds at the Medical Center at Princeton and that the State has denied its request for these beds on the basis that there are beds available in Trenton, and that a great ruckus has arisen with numerous people writing letters to senators, congressmen, legislators, etc.

All this flack still doesn't becloud the fact that we need these beds. I am amazed that throughout this whole affair, our own Borough Council has not lifted a finger to help the people of Princeton get these sorely needed hospital beds.

No Room at the Inn.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I shall not soon forget the seven hours I lay upon a half-inch foam pad and metal stretcher last week in the Emergency Room of Princeton Hospital because there was no bed available to accommodate my distress. Fed intravenously, a plastic tube pumping toxic fluids from my stomach out through my nose, I mistakenly assumed myself to be a medical patient, not the political marionette I was in fact.

For the last three years the occupancy rate of Princeton Hospital has been 99 percent plus; my doctor, a surgeon, was forced to sequester three patients in the Emergency Room for the entirety of last weekend. The length of stay at Princeton Hospital is the briefest in the state.

The money for expanded accommodations has been raised. The new building is there. The politicians are in Trenton.

They refuse to authorize additional bed space for Princeton Hospital on the grounds that empty beds exist in other Mercer County hospitals. In their possession are letters on file from the top administrators of each and every one of these hospitals advocating the expansion of the Princeton facility.

In a land of such allegedly expansive personal freedoms as ours, that a thing so fundamental as one's own life and the right to seek the best available medical treatment should be handled with the cavalier disregard displayed by State Health Commissioner, Dr. Joanne Finley, a Princeton resident who, I understand, uses a Pennsylvania hospital although she administers those of New Jersey, is inexcusable. I should be disconcerted to enter the emergency room of Princeton Hospital in a condition of cardiac arrest to be told that there is no room at the inn, but that I am welcome to hop a bus to Trenton where there are plenty of beds to choose from.

During my convalescence I met many wonderful people beset by illness. They hailed from every corner of the county and from neighboring counties. Fewer than one in 20 was a Princeton resident. Illness knows no race, creed, place of residence, or political affiliation, but the callous manipulation of our lollygagging administration makes me sick.

Bike Riding a Hazard.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

There has always been a township ordinance which states that no bicycles are to be brought inside the Princeton Shopping Center Mall. There have always been signs around the Center which very clearly state this. All of the bicycle racks have been removed from inside the Mall, and placed around the parking lot where riders can park and lock their bikes.

Yet, every springtime the madness begins again when the Center becomes a tangle of bicycles, mopeds, mini-bikes, and motor cycles. Some bike riders roar down the paths as if they were in the Indy 500. Others barely miss knocking down strollers and shoppers, very often the elderly, in their endeavor to do wheelies or race their friends. In short, the bicycle riders have caused a hazardous situation. This does not imply that every bike rider at the Mall is a threat—but unfortunately it applies to too many.

Starting on Monday, June 12, the Princeton Township Police intend to enforce the ordinance which states that no bicycles are to enter the inside of the Mall. It is hoped that all bike riders will heed the ordinance, before somebody is seriously injured.

Consolidation Not Remedy.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

According to the press, harassment of the community by public agencies, now a cardinal strategy of politicos, is to be increased by forcing artificial resuscitation of a dead issue. It is the issue of consolidation of the Borough and the Township.

Within the past 25 years, the deadness of the issue was certified by the community on at least two occasions--one personified by Dr. Carpenter and the other by Dr. Sly. The net conclusion in both cases was that there is not one good reason for consolidation of the Borough and the Township.

Evidently the new effort to put over the wishful thinking of liberal politicos is to be made on the basis of a report of a few more than 50 pages, which a special committee labored and brought forth in a little more than three years. It is too bad that fine people can go so far astray. From the standpoint of the public interest and pertinent facts, it is little more than a package of wishful thinking. To the extent that it touches upon facts and reason at all, it is less than half-baked.

The main facts of financial nature evidently involve the possibility of economies which might aggregate as much as $50,000 a year. Compare that with the annual expenditures that are involved - Borough, Township, and Regional Schools. However, any experienced person will know that there will be no reductions if the hallucination of consolidation is put over.

Consolidation means spending more, not spending less, when resorted to in the political realm. If enthusiasts deluded by spending hallucinations are successful, you may be sure that the combined outfit will be spending at least 25 percent more within three years after it is set up than at present. Also, this would be without provision for funny money, which is becoming more and more a factor in life. Evidently the position of the committee amounts to nothing more than that consolidation would be nice even if it is not necessary.

An unusual primary question is put forward as the main feature of the report. It is the dissent of the chairman of the committee. He evidently does not believe that the individual citizen may retain even what little opportunity he now has to contact and influence his hired help in government. However, all members subscribed to it except the chairman, and seem to have done so on the basis of little more than the prejudices of those who created the committee. The facts indicate that the committee was not really created to make a study of the situation, but to put consolidation over on the community even though it has been turned down twice.

The chairman is right, although somewhat diffident, in putting forward a sound dissent. That makes him the only member of the committee so far as we know who believes in the importance of facts and experience.

The facts include about 15 years of ghastly and costly experience with consolidation right in the Princeton community. These began with the fancy representations and misrepresentations that were used to put over the consolidation of public schools. What have been the results of

HENDERSON FIRM NAMED

As Broker for Forrestal Village. Sarshik and Edwards, who is planning to build 342 town houses at Princeton University's Forrestal Campus, has announced the appointment of John T. Henderson, Inc. as exclusive brokers to handle the marketing of its new project.

Forrestal Village already has road work underway on the site off College Road to the West of Route One on a sloping bluff overlooking the canal. It will include townhouses with tennis courts and swimming pools.

"Finally," said John Henderson, "there is an alternative for people in Princeton. A Home Owners Association takes care of all the grounds and the maintenance. Fewer unwelcome intrusions on the owners' time, more time for the things you like to do...and in such beautiful surroundings."

The townhouses range in price from $75,000 to $100,000 and include two bedroom, one floor models with two full baths all the way up to a three-floor model with three baths and four bedrooms. Some have fireplaces, all have two designated parking places. Many feature cathedral ceilings and private atriums open to the rain and sun.

Construction will begin as soon as final approvals are granted by the Planning Board. Forrestal Village was conceived and is being built under the supervision of Princeton University and fits hand-in-glove with the James Forrestal concept.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Accountants Here. The Princeton Chapter of the National Association of Accountants has elected the officers for the coming year: president, Frank O. Olsson, Ingersoll-Rand Research; vice-president, administrative and finance, Lawrence W. Brooks, N. J. Automatic Door, Inc.; vice-president, communications and public relations, Carol Ann Elsea, Westminster Choir College, education and professional development, Charles J. Smith Jr., Dow Jones; vice-president, membership, Arthur L. Rouselle Jr., Dow Jones; treasurer, Raymond W. Schlueter, North American Philips Lighting Corp.; secretary, Mary M. Barna, Lewis C. Bowers & Sons.

Dinner meetings are held each month from September through April offering technical programs of interest to those in financial and managerial accounting fields. A world-wide organization, the NAAA strives to keep its members abreast of the latest changes in accounting policy.

Anyone desiring further information on the Princeton Chapter should contact Arthur Rouselle (609) 452-2000.

NEW TICKETS IN USE

For Railroad Commuters. "Display-type weekly and monthly commutation tickets for unlimited travel between designated stations are now available to New Jersey Commuters," according to Assemblywoman Barbara McConnel (D-14th District).

The non-punch tickets are effective for both weekly and monthly riders. They are valid on Conrail trains operated over the Northeast Corridor (formerly Penn Central), Raritan Valley (formerly Central Railroad), North Jersey Coast (formerly New York and Long Branch), and Seashore (formerly Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore) Lines.

"The tickets have color-coded stickers showing the week or month for which they are puchased, and also are coded according to destination. Weekly tickets also show expiration dates. Commuters place the tickets in the clip-holders of the seat in front of them and then ride undisturbed to their destination.

"This method will be effective in eliminating the need to collect, punch, and return tickets for each individual rider on every trip, as well as develop uniform operations on all Conrail-operated routes," Mrs. MConnell said.

SERVICES EXPANDED

By Stony Brook Realty. Stony Brook Realty of Hopewell, selected as the exclusive Hopewell Valley representative of the Homes For Living Network, a national marketing network of realtors, held an oritentation seminar for its staff conducted by Joseph F. Jedlicka, Jr., HFL vice-president.

The seminar reviewed the numerous aids designed to assist HFL members in providing better service for their clients. There are more than 2,000 HFL member offices in all 50 states, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Among the programs and services are the Homes for Living magazine, displaying photos, prices and descriptions of homes available monthly in some 9,000 communities; an industry relations program, working directly with corporate transferees; equity buying and guaranteed home trade-in program.

Carmen R. Manzoni, owner of Stony Brook Realty, noted that in the ever-changing field of real estate, his firm can now offer the most sophisticated services in assisting clients' housing needs.

"Being associated with 2,000 fellow real estate offices nationally," he said, "means we can now expedite the move of families to other cities, assist industry better in relocating employees, and provide greater exposure to our listings by circulating them in other HFL affiliated communities to families contemplating a move to Hopewell Valley."

SALES ASSOCIATE NAMED

By John T. Henderson, Inc. Connie Fleming has joined John T. Henderson, Inc. as a senior sales associate.

Born in Milwaukee, Mrs. Fleming graduated with honors from Wisconsin University and has lived in Princeton since 1970. Prior to joining Henderson, she spent nearly three years as a licensed associate in residential real estate.

Her interests include SAVE, Retinitis Pigmentosa, paddle tennis, and she is a member of the Board of the Princeton University Art Museum.

Mrs. Fleming will work at Henderson's main office at 4 Charlton Street.

Dr. Howard J. Blechman, 34 Howe Circle, has been named Director of the Outpatient Department of the Carrier Foundation in Belle Mead.

Dr. Blechman, who has been a staff psychiatrist at Carrier since 1969, received his undergraduate degree from the University of Pennsylvania and his M.D. from Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He completed his psychiatric residency at the Philadelphia Psychiatric Center. Prior to joing Carrier's staff, he was in private practice and was previously with theAlbert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia.

that consolidation? To what extent were the representations made in favor of it justified by the experience and results that followed?

The principal answer of course is implicit in Chairman Cornforth's forebodings. The school system gradually was moved away from any consideration for the individual citizen and for anything in the nature of customary democratic procedure.

Regional Schools became a segregated empire by itself. It became a subsidiary of the neurotic bureaucracy of education in Trenton and of moron State politicians, while erecting an iron curtain between itself and the community. It brought about the McPherson regime, which proceeded gradually to destroy a once prestigious sytem of education with a competent and devoted personnel and supplant it with an arrogant bureaucracy which has flouted the community and put on a neurotic demonstration of the arrogance of labor union power.

So it can be noted that about 15 years of Princeton's experience with consolidation shows that the quality of education has gone down; the cost has gone up; the interest and cooperation of the community has been destroyed; and Princeton schools languish on the fourth-grade level of a labor union despotism. Is it any wonder that in the Princeton schools it costs 50 percent more per pupil to do what is done much better in Hopewell Valley schools? Is it any wonder that enrollment is going down? Is it any wonder that barely anyone voted in the last School Board election? A shocking revelation to any who think!

Schools are supposed to prepare individuals for life and especially to get a job.

Consolidation is not a remedy. It is a power-grabbing disease.

Find out how generous Uncle Sam can be. Get over 8½% on government securities.

In 1968, The Government National Mortgage Association was formed. It quickly acquired the nickname "Ginnie Mae," and considerable interest from investors. Here's why.

Because it competes for money, it offers you high yields. Over 8½% in some cases. Because it's an agency of the U.S. Government, it's safe. Your interest and principal are guaranteed.

Ginnie Maes offer more than high yield and safety. Only $25,000 is required for a purchase of one security. Your principal and interest are paid back monthly.

There's more you should know about Ginnie Maes. For additional information, mail the coupon below, or call your local Paine Webber broker.

TO HONOR PASTOR

For 15 Years of Service. The officers and members of the First Baptist Church, John Street and Paul Robeson Place, will hold a series of events to honor their pastor, the Rev. Edward Smith, for 15 years of "dedicated service to his Church and Community."

"Community Night" is the theme of the first event service which will take place this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. There will be sermonettes by the Rev. Charles Quillan of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Leon Gipson of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church. Each minister will be accompanied by the choirs from his church.

"Trenton Night" will be celebrated Thursday at 7:30 with the Rev. Earl Tolbert, Union Baptist Church; the Rev. Hubert Hunter, St. Phillip's Church; the Rev. Nathaniel Benjamin, Wayne Avenue Church; and the Rev. James Goosby, New Salem Baptist Church all of Trenton, taking part.

The Rev. William J. Sanders, pastor of Friendship Baptist Church, will participate Friday at 7:30, also accompanied by his choirs. A banquet will be held in the lower auditorium of the First Baptist Church Saturday at 6:30 in honor of Pastor Smith. The Rev. S. Howard Woodson of Shiloh Baptist Church, Trenton, will be the speaker. The public is welcome, and tickets at $15 per person may be purchased through Mrs. Rosa Simpson.

The guest speaker Sunday at the 11 a.m. service will be the Rev. Donald Hayes from Richmond, Va.

TO WELCOME MINISTER

At Church Picnic. The United Methodist Church, Nassau and Vandeventer Streets, will hold a church-wide picnic Sunday immediately following the 11 a.m. worship service. The picnic will be held at the home of the Vaccaros on Quaker Bridge Road and will give an opportunity for the congregation to become acquainted with its new minister, the Rev. Jack Johnson.

The Rev. Jack Johnson

The Rev. Edward Smith

Mr. Johnson, who succeeds the Rev. Ronald Dyson who has assumed the pastorate of the brick Town United Methodist Church, comes to Princeton from Toms River. There he was not only pastor of St. Andrew's Methodist Church from 1971 to the present but also was active in community affairs, especially on behalf of senior citizens and young people.

He was elected to the Dover Township Committee in 1976 and served as Dover Township Mayor from 1977 to 1978 and as Deputy Mayor this year. Mr. Johnson founded and was past chairman of Community Services, Inc., the Ocean County nutritional program for the elderly, and was responsible for the appointment of a senior citizens advisory council.

While serving on the Dover Township Committee, Mr. Johnson established the Youth Advisory Council to study the problems of juvenile delinquency in a rapidly growing community and sponsored the inclusion of the Bureau of Youth Services in the municipal budget. He also was a member of the board of Ocean County Contact which set up a 24-hour hotline and he helped establish a day care program for working women at Ocean County College.

He was named Outstanding Young Man of America by the National Jaycees in 1977 and Outstanding Young Man of Toms River this year by Toms River Jaycees. Mr. Johnson is married to the former Coleen Perkins and is the father of three sons.

DRIVE UNDER WAY

For University of Japan. Sunday has been designated as Japan International Christian University Day to commemorate the 29th anniversary of the founding of the University in Tokyo.

ICU was founded in 1949 by Japanese, Canadian and American Christians as a post war act of reconciliation. Christian in commitment and interdenominational and international in spirit and composition, the student body and faculty includes many people from the United States and other countries. Instruction is bilingual.

Funds from the United States are needed to enable the University to continue offering the high quality program for which it has achieved recognition. Tax-deductible gifts may be sent to the JICU Foundation, 475 Riverside Drive, New York, 10027. Mrs. John M. Larson of 10 Madison Street is a member of the woman's committee of the Foundation.

Gracious entry hall, formal step-down living room with fireplace, interesting library with cathedral ceiling and exposed beams, hide-away playroom, music room or maid's room with adjoining bath - all are charming. But the heart of the house is the marvelous "country kitchen" with its informal sitting space around the fireplace and pleasant eating area. The working kitchen with cooking island was custom designed by its gourmet owner! Bright sunny, opening out to terrace, pool and woods - this is a room to live in!

Master suite, three other second floor bedrooms, a total of five baths (two with oversized tubs) and high on the third floor, with its own outside staircase and cedar deck, a light filled studio.

If you are looking for a spacious country home, with quality workmanship, materials and design in every feature, this is one to see and admire! Newly reduced to $295,000

QUIET CORNER OF BUCKS COUNTY

From the antique canal barge lamp over the front door to the seven - doored dining room built from a local covered bridge, this village property reflects the best of an unchanging corner of Bucks County.

Built in 1853 at the juncture of a cheerful brook and the Delaware, this seven room Federal house retains its quiet charm, enhanced by extensive renovation. 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths; living room, dining room and library (all with fireplaces). Oak beams and random width floors. And an open, quiet porch.

The country kitchen — airy, light and spacious — offers a full view of the rear formal garden and includes a working 18th century French antique woodburning stove.

Completing this well-groomed property on a wooded 7/8 acre are two outbuildings — barn and garage.

$98,500. Appointments please —

Picture yourself living in the real thing: a historic colonial village all your own backing up to a wonderful wide mill stream. The sense of belonging right there, of being surrounded by a quieter and more leisurely time, of authentic beamed ceilings, hand craftsmanship and tradition, wide floor boards, and wonderful warming old fireplaces as good for you now as they were back when. Each of these houses has been lovingly restored and updated with all the modern conveniences.

SOUTHWORTH, the main residence, dates from 1740, and features a beamed living room with built-in corner cupboard, a formal dining room with big old fireplace, a convenient kitchen, and a den overlooking the stream. Upstairs are three comfortable bedrooms and a studio room.

SOUTHWORTH COTTAGE, circa 1790, has a large living room, a dining room, and an eat-in kitchen, as well as two comfortable bedrooms and a full bath.

SOUTHWORTH QUARTERS, circa 1840 has a foyer, living room, den, and kitchen with dining area. Upstairs are two ample bedrooms, a bath and lots of storage areas. Situated on more than an acre overlooking a lovely old stream, Southworth is convenient to an easy commute to Princeton or for that matter to New York or Philadelphia via the Turnpike or Penn Central. The inground swimming pool (32' concrete) is just one of the many extras you must come see. As a working colonial investment, the above is still offered as one property, but subdivision is possible.

Realistically priced at $139,900

A BRAND NEW LISTING FROM MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP. Our Montgomery Office proudly presents an immaculate spacious colonial bi-level in Montgomery Township. FAIRWAY DRIVE....
THE TREES ARE FULL....
THE FLOWERS ARE BLOOMING...

AND HERE IS A HOUSE READY FOR YOU! 7 years young and completely redecorated just about two years ago, this house gleams from inside out! It's a sprawling colonial without being "too big" that welcomes a growing family and all the friends that go with one! True family kitchen just off the patio, overlooking one of Princeton's last farms. Five bedrooms and three and a half well-appointed baths. Marvelous storage, and neat as a pin throughout, the living room with bay windows, formal dining room, study, panelled family room with fireplace. Minimum outside maintenance because it's cedar-sided and the two acres abound with natural plantings and tall trees. At a new price $210,000

A COMPLETE REAL ESTATE ORGANIZATION

One of the prettiest houses on Van Kirk Road is this Thompson-style Cape Cod. The entrance foyer is large and welcoming; the living room has a brick-wall fireplace that's truly unique, and large sliding glass doors to the flagstone patio. The dining room has a charming window seat, and a door to the brick patio. The family room, with its warm panelling is lined with bookcases and storage. The large, country-style kitchen has an eat-in area beside the fireplace, a center island, a planning desk and more. There are three bedrooms, including the master bedroom, and two baths. The house is designed for comfortable living and entertaining-inside and out.
$128,500

This lovely ranch-style house is perfect for a couple who enjoy entertaining with graciousness. The spacious living room has a fireplace and two picture windows with window seats. The library has a handsome stone floor, another fireplace, mahogany panelling, built-in bookcases, and three picture windows. To round out your entertaining pleasures, there is a large patio leading to a beautiful pool. The setting is priceless: the entrancing Tall Timbers area. But descriptions are not enough – this house must be seen to be fully appreciated. $169,500

INTERESTING POSITION OPEN

If you are interested in being part of the production of a weekly newspaper, this opportunity will appeal to you. TOWN TOPICS has a part-time, permanent position open in its composing room. Those willing to work just for the summer will also be considered.

Duties include tape-punching stories for publication, ad mark-up and composition, paste-up and the operation of various phototypesetting computers. Typing ability of approximately 50 words per minute is essential, but no previous experience otherwise is required – merely a willingness to learn.

Hours are all day Monday and Tuesday, part-time Friday. Paid vacation after one year and participation in profit-sharing plan, which involves no payroll deductions. Please submit a brief, informal resume to Box A-100, TOWN TOPICS, Post Office Box 664, Princeton. Interviewing will follow.

Diverse Neighborhood Near End of Bayard Lane Unites Against Plan to Build Medical Offices

It's a neighborhood of wealth--and of very modest incomes....

Of houses a scant ten years old...and the buried shards of a 19th-century house designed by Charles Steadman.

Of families where English is the halting second language...and where English has been spoken in this country for many generations.

House painters live here, and lawyers; a retired school-crossing guard, and the man who is probably the world's leading authority on hand-writing analysis. In one house lives the daughter of Josef Stalin.

Like many neighborhoods, the area around lower Bayard Lane, Mountain Avenue, Duffield Place, Morgan Place, Henderson Avenue, in the Township, is a place where people know each other, take care of one another when the need is there, and band together when they see something they regard as a threat.

At the moment, they feel threatened by a proposal to build a condominium of 12 medical offices--for doctors and dentists--on the triangle of land that will be formed when Mountain Avenue Extension goes through.

Apartments Planned. A pleasant old white house stands there now. Not, the audience at the Township Zoning Board heard last Wednesday, a particularly distinguished house in terms of history or architecture, but a nice, comfortable place to live. It would be converted into two apartments by the partners who want to develop the parcel.

The house has been the property of Mrs. James Stewart, who now lives a few doors away at 82 Mountain Avenue.

Across from the old house, with its charming green garden, the northern part of Bayard Lane intersects with a relatively new cul-de-sac called Duffield Place, whose houses were built in the late 1960s.

Duffield Place was briefly called "Pony Cart Lane," until an aghast Township Committee and Planning Board learned about the name and "urged" the builder to pick something else.

"Pony Cart Lane" was used because the houses were built where a bustling stable flourished for many years, until it burned to the ground in the middle of the night August 2, 1961.

Counset Retained. It was on Duffield Place that neighbors first gathered to talk about formal opposition to the Nassau Medical Arts Center and to decide they should retain a lawyer. The convener was a chemist named William Vanden Heuvel, who has lived with his family at 22 Duffield Place for the past six years.

"We don't have any formal neighborhood association," Mr. Vanden Heuvel says, "but we get together on the big holiday week-ends--Fourth of July, Labor Day. We're concerned about keeping this a residential area. Some of us are afraid of the precedent--there's that big vacant lot on Bayard Lane across from the service stations. If this is approved, it could be a precedent for commercial development there."

Six years' residence makes Mr. Vanden Heuvel almost a newcomer. His neighbors, James and Edwina Tarabell, have lived 28 years in the immaculate Cape Cod at the corner of Duffield and Bayard.

"It's the most wonderful neighborhood to live in!" Mrs. Tarabell exclaims. "I'll never forget when my mother died suddenly, and I got back from the funeral, the family next door--that's Emma Carnevale and her daughter--had a roast-beef dinner ready for me. I've never forgotten it. And I'd have done the same for them...."

Fears of Pollution. A nurse at South Brunswick High School for 18 years, Mrs. Tarabell says she is uneasy about possible medical wastes from the proposed offices, and from what she regards as the additional pollution of cars stopping and starting.

"...and yet, I'm in the medical profession and doctors do need places. I am trying to weigh it all, talking to people and thinking about it."

Around the bend of Mountain Avenue, a few hundred feet, is the former home of the late Nina Lord, founder of Palmer Square's Clothesline and widow of Thorn Lord, long a power in New Jersey political life.

Farther west is the intersection with another cul-de-sac, Morgan Place, one of the many genuinely cosmopolitan streets in the Princeton community. The newest resident is Svetlana Peters, daughter of Josef Stalin. She lived in Princeton when she first came to the United States, then left town, and has now quietly returned.

Her close neighbor on the small street is a Princeton native--Paul Hill. He built his own house here in 1949.

"We've always been very closely knit on Morgan Place although we have very different occupations," he explains. Burned out of his market in the Benson Building fire of 18 months ago, Mr. Hill is making a come-back and will re-open next month at a State Road location.

"We'll have a three-part market this time," he smiles, "the Soupery Restaurant, take-out, and the meat market."

Block Parties Held. Perhaps because people like Mr. Hill are very busy these days, there may not be this summer the traditional Morgan Place Block Party. Usually it's held in June.

"We get permission to block off the street, then we get together around 5 p.m.," recalls Liz Crane, who has lived with her husband, Harry, and their family for 25 years at 15 Morgan. "Everybody brings a dish, and we fraternize, invite people who used to live here, and maybe one of the kids will play some music."

It was Ruth Nosal, at 21 Morgan, who suggested that maybe people were too busy this summer to have the block party. Her husband, Peter, a construction consultant with Wood and Tower, built their house 23 years ago and, like Mrs. Tarabell, she has a vivid memory of the caring qualities of the neighborhood.

"When that stable burned down! It was 2 or 3 in the morning, on a summer night, and we had a couple of properties that backed right up to it, you know."

"And one of our neighbors is confined to a wheel-chair, and another had a serious heart condition and of course we all helped to get them both out."

News Of The THEATRES

MUSIC! COMEDY! Cabaret! (And Hussein???)

How King Hussein got into the act nobody is quite sure because there was no live press coverage of auditions, but the King and his bride are said to be preparing a surprise visit this Thursday night to the opening of Inn Cabaret in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn.

It's their wedding day, as surely everyone knows. And the single performance Thursday starts at 8:30 p.m., which doesn't leave much travel time between Jordan and the Nass.

Inn Cabaret will also play this Friday with two performances–8:30 and 10:30, but there aren't any promises about the King for that night.

There will be lots of music and some comedy pieces, as usual. Among the sketches is a parody described as a take-off "of every bad Restoration play you can imagine." Diana Crane will play Lady Wanton Malpractice, Brent Monahan will be her husband, Sir Militant, Suzie Bertin has been cast as Simple, the maid, and Dan Berkowitz will be Sir Solemnity Sourpuss. Berkowitz, of course, is master of this ceremonious evening, and Inn Cabaret director.

In other sketches there will be Roo Brown, Liz Fillo and for music, Annie Rikleen at piano and Steve Fillo on bass. Floyd Backes has done the lighting, Marie Miller the costumes and Joan Lucas the choreography.

Inn Cabaret will return next week-end for one night only–Friday, June 23–to give a pair of shows as a benefit for Summer Intime. The regular season will resume June 29 and 30, and will continue Thursdays and Fridays through August 4.

Reservations are suggested, and you can make them by calling 924-3727, ext. A-29, starting the Monday before each show. A cash bar is available throughout all performances.

"GODSPELL" BOOKED

As Opener, at Washington Crossing. Young actors and singers in the Neshaminy Players will open the season for the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing State Park with a production of the musical "Godspell."

It will be given its first

Program 1 Wed, Thurs & Sun BLOW-UP at 7:30 CONVERSATION at 9:30 Fri & Sat BLOW-UP at 8:00 CONVERSATION at 10:00

BLOW UP remains one of the modern classics which helped usher in a new era for an art form that appeared to be stagnating Antonioni's part-thriller, part-parable is at once a hip chronicle of mid-sixties London, the cinematic embodiment of the mod generation, and a visual manifestation of contemporary existentialism David Hemmings plays a hedonistic fashion photographer who stylishly records the pop culture around him, but cannot come to grips with his own existence When a casual photo session in the park leads to the discovery of a murder, he faces both real danger as well as the kind of moral questions Antonioni loves to pose. With Vanessa Redgrave England, 1966, 110 min

THE CONVERSATION was made by Francis Ford Coppola before The Godfather, and is every bit as good, if not better It is a combination of sheer thriller, psychological study, and social comment Gene Hackman (in his best screen role) plays a professional wire-tapper who is not only master, but also, unwittingly, servant of his craft, a man who's so involved in surveillance technology that he's forgotten what it's for and about. Coppola ruthlessly dissects his subject's secret vulnerabilities, paranoia, disturbing guilts and romantic involvements, but the film's real focus is a major concern for us all, privacy and moral paralysis With John Cazale & Cindy Williams USA, 1974, 113 minutes, PG

Program 2 Wed, Thurs & Sun OON'T LOOK at 7:30 MAN WHO FELL at 9:30 Fri & Sat. OON'T EOOK at 8:00 MAN WHO FELL at 10:00

OON'T LOOK NOW is both a subtle and sophisticated horror film, and an intricate speculation about levels of perception and reality Oonald Sutherland is the father who refuses to acknowledge his extrasensory abilities, while Julie Christie is the wife who takes refuge in the visions of a blind psychic. But far more than just a horror story with supernatural overtones about a child's death, it is a disturbing tale of guilt, clairvoyance, and overwhelming love, with something very special rigorous psychological truth Directed by Nicholas Roeg, this is a film of intense sensual imagery, and a complex viewing experience USA, 1974, 110 minutes, R

THE MAN WHO FELL TO EARTH is already a science-fiction classic ranking right up there with Star Wars and Close Encounters Rock star David Bowie, in a bit of inspirational casting, plays a frail and exotic ingenue from outer space who is exposed to and finally overcome by modern technology, American capitalism, and his earthly love (Candy Clark). Filled with beauty, tension and a mysterious, unsettling power, it takes place in New York, the southwest, and on another world in a distant universe. Directed by Nicholas Roeg, it is never less than visually stunning, and like a great painting or novel, is best left to each individual viewer to assimilate on his own With Rip Torn & Buck Henry USA, 1976, 118 minutes, R

Program 3 Wed, Thurs & Sun STOLEN KISSES at 7:30 CITY LIGHTS at 9:00 Fri & Sat STOLEN KISSES at 8:00 CITY LIGHTS at 9:30

STOLEN KISSES was the second installment in Francois Truffaut's Antoine Doinel cycle, which began with The 400 Blows, and is, in many respects, the autobiography of the director himself — his thoroughly dishonorable discharge from the army, his initially awkward but finally successful encounter with women But the pain of encounter with the world here becomes an acceptance of life with which comes an openness to its joy As always, Jean-Pierre Leaud is wonderful as Antoine, with Delphine Seyrig as his first love Strong, sweet, wise, and explosively funny, it serves to make clear the special quality of Truffaut a romantic who is in touch with reality France, 1969, 90 minutes

CITY LIGHTS is arguably the greatest masterpiece among Chaplin's feature-length films A perfect blend of drama and comedy it is also his most melancholy feature and one of the most haunting love stories ever filmed It was made in 1931, three years after the rest of Hollywood had converted to sound and dialogue But Chaplin resisted the trend, and insisted on making City Lights as a silent screen pantomime, to which he added his own original synchronized musical score — and as usual, he was right The film's final close up remains one of the most touching moments in all motion pictures With Virginia Cherrill (as the blind flower girl), and Jean Harlow (as an extra) USA, 1931, 81 minutes

12	13	14	15	16

Program 4 Wed, Thurs & Sun DISCREET CHARM at 7:30 SHAMPOO at 9:15 Fri & Sat DISCREET CHARM at 8:00 SHAMPOO at 9:45

THE DISCREET CHARM OF THE BOURGEOISIE is the great Luis Bunuel at his surrealistic best and provides that special exhilaration that comes with knowing that you are watching a genius at work Winner of the 1972 Oscar for Best Foreign Film, it is a crystal clear social comedy about a small group of chic, upper-crust Parisians who spend most of the film trying, unsuccessfully to dine together The master moralist social critic and satirist is blessed with a glittering all-star cast, including Stephane Audran, Fernando Rey, Delphine Seyrig and Michel Piccoli This is the lightest of cinematic souffles, full of youthful spirits and farcical sobriety France, 1972, 100 minutes PG

SHAMPOO is a virtuoso example of sophisticated kaleidoscopic farce and a triple triumph for actor-writer-producer Warren Beatty It is on one hand the story of the Beverly Hills crowd and its hustlers and on the other, an assessment of the morality mentality and mood of the Nixon-era beginnings Beatty plays George stud and male hairdresser to the stars, and we follow him through forty working hours as he makes his way from house to house and from woman to woman (including Julie Christie, Lee Grant and Goldie Hawn) A contemporary mixture of restoration comedy of manners and La Dolce Vita 1970's, the film's working metaphor is sex, and you're not likely to see it on tv anytime soon Directed by Hal Ashby USA, 1975, 110 minutes, R

19	20	21	22	23

Program 5 Wed, Thurs & Sun GOING PLACES at 7:30 LAST DETAIL at 9:30 Fri & Sat GOING PLACES at 8:00 LAST DETAIL at 10:00

GOING PLACES is a keystone sexual comedy which became one of 1974's more controversial films, since it is at once funny and tragic, gentle and brutal, erotic and pornographic, charming and immoral, and definitely for adults only It follows the exploits of two outrageous drifters (Gerard Depardieu and Patrick Dewaere) who pass the time stealing cars, molesting women, and generally terrorizing people for a laugh But their search also leads them to Jeanne Moreau, a beautiful and fragile woman just released from prison, who undermines their carefree arrogance Bertrand Blier's film justifiably boasts about its shock appeal, but it also has something to say and shakes us up in the course of doing so France, 1974, 117 minutes, R

THE LAST DETAIL is an acting tour-de-force for Jack Nicholson, which ranks with his R P McMurphy in Cuckoo's Nest, and won him the Best Actor award at the Cannes Film Festival Nicholson plays Buddusky, a 14-year veteran Navy signalman who lives on nostalgia, ingrained resentments, anger, and booze. He and his companion Mulhall (Otis Young) are dispatched to take an 18 year-old seaman recruit (Randy Quaid) from the brig in Norfolk to prison in Portsmouth, and the movie is the record of their dallying, beer-soaked, last-fling journey and of their self-discoveries enroute. Written by Robert (Chinatown) Towne, and directed by Hal (Coming Home) Ashby, this is a bawdy, hilarious and often touching film which you're unlikely to see on television — at least with its salty language uncensored USA, 1974, 102 minutes, R

26	27	28	29	30

Program 6 Wed, Thurs & Sun GO-BETWEEN at 7:30 / AMARCORO at 9:30 Fri & Sat GO-BETWEEN at 8:00 / AMARCORO at 10:00

THE GO-BETWEEN was the third collaboration between director Joseph Losey and screenwriter-playwright Harold Pinter (Accident, The Servant). While capturing beautifully the emotional highs and lows of puberty and of turn-of-the-century English society, it is also a charming tale of casual cruelty, and a terrifying picture of an innocent love A 13 year-old boy who has been invited to the country home of a wealthy schoolfriend for the holidays finds himself carrying notes between his friend's engaged sister (Julie Christie) and an earthy farmer (Alan Bates) Losey and Pinter have a fascination with the surfaces of illusion, and their work together is about as close to movie perfection as you can get With Michael Redgrave & Margaret Leighton England, 1971, 116 minutes, PG

AMARCORO is Fellini at the top of his form, full of wonder, affection and imagination. A moving reminiscence of his youth in a small town in fascist Italy, it combines the concerns of his early neo-realist comedies with the fantastic style of his later films. Full of tales — some romantic, some slapstick, some bawdy, some elegiacal — it is a sprawling, touching and often hilarious evocation of life Fellini makes his points the way Picasso painted pictures, and this is a kind of personal dream machine of exhilirating beauty Italy, 1974, 127 minutes, R

Program 7 Wed Thurs & Sun RANCHO at 7:30 COWBOY at 9:15 Fri & Sat RANCHO at 8:00 COWBOY at 9:45

RANCHO OELUXE was one of 1975's overlooked delights a flip absurdist parody-western written by novelist Thomas McGuane and directed by Frank Perry Jeff Bridges and Sam Waterston play a pair of contemporary but blatantly inauthentic cattle rustlers who drive around in a pick-up truck in search of targets like the steers owned by rancher Clifton James and his bored wife (Elizabeth Ashley) Their self knowledge and kookiness is their commentary on the western pretensions of retaining old values while living off the comforts of urban American life This is a cool, languid comedy, inhabited by people who have homesteaded on the frontiers of sanity USA, 1975 93 minutes, R

MIONIGHT COWBOY won Oscars for Best Picture and Director John Schlesinger If you think you've seen it on television, you have with almost 30 minutes cut Jon Voight and Dustin Hoffman are Joe Buck and Ratso Rizzo the one a naive Texas cowboy come to the big city to hustle his body for money the other, a seedy crippled con artist and petty thief New York's 42nd Street becomes their natural home and graveyard as the film depicts the bond two people form to counteract this world's ferocity and harshness, a bond that leads to trust and tragedy Originally rated X with good reason, this is a rough, vivid and ultimately moving experience that unites us all with Joe and Ratso hustling amidst the neon, but not all of us necessarily lost USA 1969 113 minutes R

9	10	11	12	13

Program 8 Wed, Thurs & Sun CRIES at 7:30 WOMEN at 9:15 Fri & Sat CRIES at 8:00 WOMEN at 9:45

CRIES AND WHISPERS remains one of Bergman's undisputed masterworks His first film in color, it explores the relationship among four women, three of them sisters (Liv Ullmann Ingrid Thulin Harriet Andersson) and their devoutly loyal housekeeper (Karen Sylwan) who strip away their characters facades to reveal their personal agonies and common fears Bergman not only reflects his rare perception about relationships and feelings among women but provides illuminating insights into often painful universal truths about the human condition He has said that his films are essentially emotional experiences, and they continue to represent the purest use of cinema as an art form capable of probing the human spirit Sweden 1972 91 minutes R

WOMEN IN LOVE is Ken Russell's screen adaptation of the D H Lawrence tale of sexual uneasiness and doubt Oscar-winner Glenda Jackson and Jennie Linden play two sexually mature and intellectually active sisters struggling against the confines of a rural English mining town Alan Bates and Oliver Reed are the men in their lives and the stories of the four explode with subtle frustrations warped joys and bitter passions Russell and screenwriter Larry Kramer have endowed their film with such an intense saturation of time and place that universals of behavior and its contemporary significance glitter throu England, 1970 129 minutes, R

16	17	18	19	20

Program 9 Wed Thurs & Sun GOOOBYE at 7:30 LATE SHOW at 9:30 Fri & Sat GOOOBYE at 8:00 LATE SHOW at 10:00

THE LONG GOODBYE is Robert Altman's explosion of the 40's myth of the private eye's code of honor and nobility The Big Sleep and Farewell, My Lovely established Chandler's Philip Marlowe as the cinema's archetypical sleuth In this adaptation of Chandler's 1935 novel Altman attempts to transpose the homogenous, understandable 40's into the chaotic, alienated 70's Elliott Gould's Marlowe is no chivalrous hero, but a casual, easy-going schlemiel who can be casually brutal. Some may find it hard to relinquish their old ideals in the midst of the nostalgia boom, but this film is far from a corrupt, derivative hack job On its own terms, it is a sly imaginative, startling and often hilarious original USA, 1973, 112 minutes, PG

THE LATE SHOW was easily one of last year's best movies yet hardly anyone saw it, so here's another chance Taking a leaf from Chandler's Philip Marlowe writer-director Robert Benton creates one of the oddest couples in cinema history Art Carney as a lonesome, shabby oldtime private eye living on social security in a rented room: and Lily Tomlin as a kooky L.A type who is simultaneously into psychoanalysis talent management, eastern religion and dealing With their relationship at the center Benton has fashioned a melodrama that employs the devices of the old Spade-Marlowe-Archer detective fiction to create a modern entertainment that is original, up-to-date and as full of resonances as its title And Carney and Tomlin, are terrific USA, 1977 94 minutes PG

23	24	25	26	27

Program 10 Wed, Thurs & Sun ONE SHOWING ONLY at 7:30 Fri & Sat ONE SHOWING ONLY at 8:00

BARRY LYNDON was badly treated by the critics at the time of its initial release, and was largely dismissed in the reflection of Kubrick's earlier triumphs with 2001 and A Clockwork Orange As writer, producer and director, Kubrick spent three years in meticulous concentration to produce an authentic vision of the 19th century, from customs to costumes to stunning battle sequences and candlelit scenes filmed without auxiliary light The result is never less than ravishing and glorious to look at its splendored scenes creating a gallery of visual excellence reminiscent of watercolorists Watteau and Turner Ryan O'Neal is Lyndon, a role derived from Thackeray's 19th century novel about a rags-to-riches rogue who galavants through Europe from castles to casinos as spy, soldier, wife-beater and gambler, while Marisa Berenson is the elegant, statuesque and mistreated Lady Lyndon. As always, Kubrick's unique and intelligent vision is omnipresent, and Barry Lyndon remains one of the great period films of modern cinema England, 1975, 185 minutes, PG

PLUS: IN A REHEARSAL ROOM by David Hahn. If you have any doubts that dance is both poetry in motion as well as hard work, this should make you a believer Cynthia Gregory and Ivan Nagy of American Ballet Theatre meet in a bare dance studio and dance a pas de deux to the Pachelbel Canon. If there has ever been a film which captures the essence of dance and the magic of ballet, this is it 11 minutes performance Thursday, June 22, and will play again that Friday and Saturday and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 29, 30 and July 1. Show time is 8:30, and if rain cancels a performance, it will be given Sunday, June 25 or July 2.

The Open Air Theatre is on the New Jersey side of the Park. There are no reserved seats in the natural amphitheatre, and tickets are on sale at the park before each performance. Ticket prices are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Theodore Kloos is music director and Arlene Kloos is the assistant musical director. J. Jeffery Adams has staged this production of "Godspell" and Delores Boreth is the choreographer. David Torey is stage manager and Michael Potashnick, artistic director.

Members of the cast are students or recent graduates of colleges in the Delaware Valley area. Most of them have appeared before in such Open Air presentations as "1776," "Crossing!", "Paint Your Wagon," "Carousel" or "Annie Get Your Gun."

NEW DANCERS ADDED

To Ballet Company. The Princeton Ballet Company has welcomed 47 new dancers to its membership, following auditions held June 4. The young dancers come from as far away as Rumson, Bound Brook, Linden and Matawan.

The Senior Company accepted six new members and the Senior apprentice Company, ten. The Junior Company, consisting of dancers under the age of 15, will have nine new members and 14 apprentices. Modern Dance auditions yielded five new senior members and three juniors.

Audition winners in the Princeton area are, from Princeton: Robin Baxendale (senior company and modern dance senior company); Kirsten Grover (junior apprentice); Jessica Hopfield (senior company); Rachel Leader (junior apprentice); Michele Morgan (senior apprentice); Pierrette Newman (senior apprentice).

Also Shari Nyce (senior company and modern dance senior company); Jill Bonin (modern dance senior company); Susannah Goodman (modern dance junior company); Weedie Sisson (junior company); Sally Snedeker (junior company); Keith Walker (senior apprentice) and Yaffa Weaver (junior company).

RECITALIST: Bethany Beardslee is one of five well-known singers participating in the annual art song festival and workshop at Westminster Choir College this coming week. Her recital Monday will include the world premiere of a setting of Emily Dickinson poems by George Perle.

MUSIC In Princeton

FIVE SOLOISTS DUE

At Choir College Workshop. The fifth annual art song festival and workshop will be held at Westminster Choir College the week of June 18 - 23.

Paul Plishka, Bethany Beardslee, Judith Raskin, Thomas Paul and Evelyn Lear will each give a recital on successive evenings, beginning Sunday. All concerts are open to the public and will be held in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus at 8 pm. Tickets (available at the door only) are $5 each. For information call 924-7416.

Martin Katz, who has functioned as an accompanist for Marilyn Horne, Renati Tebaldi, Cesare Siepi and Judith Blegen among others, is on the Westminster faculty and is the catalyst for the week-long festival. He will accompany all but Miss Beardslee and will give afternoon masterclasses to workshop participants on the Westminster campus. Each singer will give a masterclass to the workshoppers following his-her recital, and the workshoppers themselves will give mini-recitals on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 4 pm.

The first recital for the public will be given by Paul Plishka, a bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, who will sing a group of old Italian songs, Schubert, Schumann, Tchaikovsky and Rachmaninoff, ending with the "Four Gambling Songs" of John Jacob Niles.

Soprano Bethany Beardslee of Belle Mead, who will sing on Monday, has been cited by critics as a kind of "high priestess of modern music." She has performed with every major orchestra in the United States and along with being a performer and an exponent of modern music who has recorded the music of Babbitt, Sessions, Stravinsky, Berg, Webern and Krenek, she is a lecturer in voice on the faculty of the Choir College. Princeton University gave her honorary Doctor of Music in 1977.

Her recital--"along with songs by Debussy and the Eichendorff settings of Robert Schumann's Liederkreis"--will include the world premiere of George Perle's settings of thirteen poems by Emily Dickinson. Morey Ritt, who has played many of Mr. Perle's works, will be at the piano.

Judith Raskin, a graduate of Smith College and an internationally-known singer of opera and song, will sing songs by Samuel Barber, Ned Rorem, Ezra Laderman, Schubert, Mendelssohn, Debussy and Mahler on Tuesday. Bass-baritone Thomas Paul will be the recitalist on June 21. The last of the recitals, on June 22, by Evelyn Lear, will include works by Spohr, Wolf, Strauss, Ginastera and a group of Russian masters.

10TH SEASON PLANNED

For Summer Concerts. Once again it is the season for the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concerts, Princeton's major summer classical music event. This will be the tenth year for this community tradition, which takes place in the North Court of the Graduate College.

The concerts are free. No chairs are provided; blankets or folding chairs are advised. In the event of rain, performances are held in Proctor Hall at the Graduate College, same times and dates.

The four performing groups this summer will be The Princeton Ensemble, June 21; The Chester String Quartet, June 28; The Emerson String Quartet, August 9; and Richard Stoltzman with William Douglas.

The Princeton Ensemble includes Jayn Rosenfeld, flute; Geoffrey Michaels, violin and Elaine Banks, cello. They will be joined by Jude Mollenhauer, harp, in a program that will include works by Beethoven and Debussy.

The Chester String Quartet, who are based at the Eastman School of Music and will be performing at the Norfolk Festival this summer, will present an evening of quartets by Haydn, Bartok and Schumann. The Emerson String Quartet will perform works by Mendelssohn, Wolf, Barber and Debussy. The group are the winners of this year's prestigious Naumberg Award.

The last concert will present the internationally renowned clarinetist Richard Stoltzman with William Douglas who will accompany him on bassoon and on electric grand piano. The program will include works by Bach and Beethoven as well as some modern jazz.

These free concerts are funded entirely by concerned members of the community. Donations are tax-deductible and should be made payable to "Trustees of Princeton University," and mailed to Summer Chamber Concerts, Woolworth Center, Princeton University. The names of all contributors will be listed on the programs unless otherwise requested.

SOPRANO FEATURED

in Pops Concert. Mary Costa. Metropolitan Opera soprano and international diva, will be the featured soloist at the Princeton Pops Concert on Sunday evening, July 2, at the Princeton University fields east of Palmer Stadium.

Miss Costa's light operatic arias and "Memories of Old Vienna" song cycle with the full New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will inaugurate the Symphony's new mobile sound stage, a gift of the Robert Wood Johnson, Jr. Charitable Trust. Miss Costa has performed with virtually every orchestra and opera company in the United States, and maintains a full schedule of recitals and television appearances here and abroad.

In true "Pops" tradition, the program will range in diversity from the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony to Gershwin's "American in Paris", from "My Fair Lady" excerpts to the last movement of Tchaikovsky's Fourth Symphony. Thomas Michalak, music director, will conduct the 80-piece New Jersey Symphony Orchestra.

Gates will open at 5:30 for picknickers, and the music will begin at 7:30, followed by a 15-minute display of fireworks. Tickets, priced at $4 for adults ($5 at the gate), $2 for seniors and students and $1 for under 18 years, are on sale at Princeton area banks and savings and loan associatinns. To benefit youth services, in this area, the performance is sponsored by the Princeton chapter of the N. J. Symphony Orchestra League, the Princeton Youth Fund, and the Princeton YWCA in association with the Arts Council of Princeton.

For Cinema Intime, show time is 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 at the door, with subscription information available at 452-8181, between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. (Sundays, 1-7).

The schedule:

The Producers - Monday, June 19.

Mr. Smith Goes to Washington - Tuesday, June 20

Sirocco - Wednesday, June 21

Pal Joey - Thursday, June 22

Night of the Living Dead - Friday, June 23

Carnal Knowledge - Saturday and Sunday, June 24 and June 25

Lady from Shanghai - Monday, June 26

The Secret Life of Walter Mitty - Tuesday, June 27

from Skillman, Eva Sesztak (junior apprentice) and Cindy Tetz (junior apprentice).

Auditions drew 73 candidates from 31 communities and 24 dance studios. Starr Danias, featured in "Turning Point", judged the ballet audition. Jamay Chu, of the Bioet Farber Company in New York, judged modern dance.

TRY-OUTS SCHEDULED

"Bell, Book, Candle." Junior actors, seventh grade through high school, are invited to audition for the Princeton Street Theatre production of "Bell, Book and Candle" on Wednesday and Thursday, June 21 and 22, at 7 in Dorothea House, 120 John.

The play itself will be performed July 19-29. Technical crew as well as actors will be needed.

The annual children's play this year will be "Good Grief, Charlie Brown!" and auditions for that will be held June 28 and 29 at 1 p.m., also at Dorothea House. Organizations that would like to arrange with Street Theatre for performances of "Charlie Brown" should call 882-0646. The play will be available for bookings August 1-14.

PHOTOGRAPHS ON VIEW

At Medical Center. The Medical Center at Princeton will feature the photographs of Victor Chalupski, a resident of Rossmoor. His work will be on exhibit from Sunday through July 30.

Mr. Chalupski has studied with such photographers as Ansel Adams, John Doscher, Adolph Fassbender and Helen Manzer. He is a member of the Millstone Valley Camera Club and the Pictorial Photographers of America in New York City, as well as the Photographic Society of America He has exhibited at a number of one-man shows in New York and New Jersey.

A reception will be held in the Lobby of The Medical Center Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m. to which the public is invited.

EXHIBIT OPENS

At Western Electric. Western Electric's Corporate Education Center in Hopewell has opened an exhibit of the landscape paintings of Mel Klapholz in the lobby of the Carter Road building.

The show includes ten oil paintings by the former Princetonian, whose exhibit record includes shows in London and Mexico, as well as at galleries in New York City. Mr. Klapholz has also shown at the Montclair Museum and at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art. He was a member of the faculty at Mercer County College and participated in exhibits there.

The artist, who now lives and works in Chicago, says of his work: "My paintings are derived from nature. I want my paintings to be a distillation of the qualities of the scene and the feelings that went into the preliminary drawings."

His paintings reflect a search for simplicity which is also mirrored in their titles. Among the works on display are "Winter," "Wheat Field," "Clouds" and "Ettl Farm." The gallery is open to the public from 9 to 4 Monday through Friday, and from 2 to 5 on Saturdays.

Seymour Mondshein, 20 Seminary Avenue, Hopewell, has been invited to show his handcrafted leatherwork at the Northeast Craft Fair to be held in Rhinebeck, N.Y., June 23, 24, 25. Rhinebeck is a juried show and receives approximately 2000 applications each year.

Mr. Mondshein is known in this area for his fine leatherwork, currently emphasizing designer handbags and luggage. A leathersmith for seven years, he has exhibited his work at many fairs on a national and local level.

Clubs and Organizations

Twice postponed because of weather, Dr. Henry Beechhold's lecture on "Poetry - Hands On," has been rescheduled for Thursday at 7:30 in Firestone Library Staff Lounge, Princeton University, by the Delaware Valley Poets.

The meeting is open to the public. A small donation will be collected at the door.

The Mills College Alumnae of Princeton will meet at a buffet supper honoring President Barbara White on Tuesday, at 6:30 at the home of Kit Wong, 96 Mason Drive. Alumnae and those interested in the California college are welcome. For reservations call Suzanne Starr, 921-2297.

The West Windsor Keenagers Club will meet Thursday, June 22, for dinner at 6 at the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church. The club wil provide the main course, under the direction of Dorothy Slayback, acting dinner chairman, and participants are asked to bring a side dish or dessert. Reservations are required and may be telephoned to Alice Caples, 799-0575; Jessie Martz, 799-1085, or Mae Phillips, 452-2767.

Officers will be elected. The slate includes Lester Applegate, president; Stan Hettinger, vice president; Nora Werner, treasurer; and Betty Simon, secretary.

Dr. Earl Simon, a member of the West Windsor Lions,

RECORDS AND JEANS

New Idea in Shops. Records and jeans, so popular with youngsters, are almost essential to their way of life, contributing status and pleasure. Gerry Sweeton, familiar with the wants and finances of teen-agers, has opened a unique shop in the Montgomery Shopping Center, which carries their favorite things at discounted prices. Called Records and Jeans, the shop features the kinds of music they like to hear on records and tapes, and the kinds of clothes they like to wear--Levi's jeans and Danskin's leotards and bikinis.

Records, Tapes, Posters. This attractive shop has a sound surround of the latest recordings. It is similar to shops found on the west coast, and one in San Francisco sparked the idea for a shop in this area. Hundreds of records, from the latest hits to favorite oldies, are displayed on one side of the shop; eight track and cassette tapes, exact copies of the records, are found on the opposite side. Racks of jeans and Danskins occupy the center space in the shop and there are spacious dressing rooms for trying them on.

Both LP's and tapes listing for $7.98 are sold here for $6.67; oldies $1.43 to $3.33. Tape and record accessories include cleaners for both, blank tapes, and diamond phonograph needles that sell for half-price. In a darkened room behind the main sales area, a four foot square TV screen shows video tapes of performances by the various groups and singers, whose records sell at the shop. Black light posters, signs of the zodiac in fluorescent colors, glow in the darkness.

Other posters are photographic color reproductions of rock groups, entertainers, pin-ups and famous personalities from sports, movies and T.V. Displayed around the walls of the shop, you can see likenesses of Dolly Parton, Joe Namath, Cheryl Tiegs, Linda Ronstadt, the Bee Gees, Bay City Rollers, Elvis Presley, Darth Vader, President of the United States, Jimmy Carter, and many others, priced from $1.90 to $3.81.

Levi's and Danskins. The store's slogan is "We cover your body and expose your mind," and the shop has many styles of Levi's fashion jeans and dungarees in junior and misses sizes--for women only; men will have to wait for their Levi jeans until fall. Also for women, are the leotards and bikinis by Danskin, with Danskin one-piece bathing suits, pants and wrap skirts still in transit. The shop expects to have a line of sweaters and hats by Danskin and sweaters by Levi for fall.

Women's jeans, all by Levi, are shown in about 25 styles from very wide legs to narrow and tapered pegs in denims, white duck or tan cords. A group of junior sizes, 3-15, in pre-washed, 100 percent cotton denim, includes "Pyramid Shapes" with no outside seam to mar the smooth curve of a feminine hip, "The Genuine Blue Jean" with straight legs, and an alternate style showing flared legs ending in a fringey unfinished look.

A classic in the blue jean tradition is styled with medium legs, "Slim Fits" have zipped back pockets (no front pockets) and straight legs. Dress jeans look very handsome in white polyester and cotton with moderately flared lege, a wide waistband and two back pockets.

In misses sizes 8-18, brushed denim jeans of cotton and polyester have a stitched front seam, elasticized back and two back pockets. Pre-washed cotton and polyester denim jeans have straight legs and two slit pockets in front only. Stretch denim in cotton and nylon is also shown with straight legs, and two slit pockets in front.

Danskin's body bras in one size fit 32AA to 36C and can be coordinated with one size bikini pants for sizes 4-8, in red, black, pink, blue, white. Classic leotards can be worn for exercising, dancing and as body shirts; the scoop neck, short sleeved style is available in small, medium and large sizes in a nice range of colors--grey, cherry, hemlock, copper, chrome yellow, white. Professional weight leotards with scoop neck and long sleeves are black or mauve, in petite to large sizes.

Bulletin Board: The shop offers bulletin board space for personal items involving sale or acquisition of related articles--sale or purchase of used recording equipment, instruments, records, tapes; availability or need for bands, performers and entertainers.

Graduating Seniors Honored. Mr. Sweeton's two youngsters, Dari, 17, and Andy, 18, will graduate from Montgomery High School, June 22nd, and Records and Jeans will honor all 1978 high school graduates in the area, offering them one-third off the already discounted prices of all merchandise in the store, Friday, June 23rd, Saturday, June 24th and Sunday, June 25th. Graduates must show their high school diplomas in order to qualify for the special prices.

Records and Jeans is located in the Montgomery Shopping Center. Store hours are 12-8, Monday through Friday, 10-6 Saturday, 12-6 Sunday.

ZINDER'S TRANSFORMED

By New Hallmark Line. Zinder's has been transformed into a sparkling new Hallmark Shop--new carpeting, new cabinets and display cases have given the store a polished look, a comfortable, quiet atmosphere. Prestigious Hallmark products provide colorful, well-designed merchandise; Dunston, Kim Originals and Dixson offer unusual and original gifts; expanded lines of favorite games, puzzles, stuffed animals bestow a warm welcome. The atmosphere is gala and exciting as shipments arrive and are unpacked and arranged for the grand opening of Zinder's Hallmark Shop, Thursday, June 15th.

Paperware: Hallmark's beautiful gift wrappings, in an amazing choice of patterns, allow you to wrap a gift with distinction and present it with pride. New, flowered ribbons are packaged with paper to match, or can be contrasted with solid fashion colors in tissue paper. "Forest Images" are summery tableware themes featured by Hallmark, which include "Forest Ferns," a cool and shady print–white with green ferns on tableclothes and napkins, green with white ferns on plates.

One hundred thirty-two linear feet of greeting cards by Hallmark incorporate "Little World"--madcap fun in miniature settings, "Amanda Bradley"–inspirational cards, "Essence"--scratch the surface to release scents. Hallmark also has a fine collection of stationery in ensembles, letterpacks, postcards, notes, invitations, thank-yous and letter seals. Luxurious writing instruments are ballpoint or felt-tipped pens and pencils in warm, natural woods, chrome, and 12 karat gold-fill, which make good gifts for graduation, birthday or Father's Day.

Hallmark has all kinds of albums and scrapbooks--autograph, engagement, address, diaries, travel journals and photograph albums especially sized for the type of film used. Keepsake albums are designed for babies, anniversaries, wedding, graduation, and travel. Some have transparent plastic pages, others have pages and pockets for souvenirs, momentoes and cards received.

Candles. Dinner tapers, twisted or straight, and columns in decorator colors blend with Hallmark's paper tableware or your finest china. "Firefly" is a stemmed holder with wicks that float on salad oil. "Animates" create flickering candlelight which gives shadowy motion to birds, fish, butterflies and scenes. "Snowball Lite" is an icy, crinkled glass that holds a votive candle and adds a refreshing note to summer dining.

Children's Corner. Hallmark's Children's Corner has easy-to-read books, activity books and puzzles to entertain children on summer days or during travel, including "Spell 'n Tell", "Stitchin' Time", "Draw 'n Erase", and "Flip-Flop Fun" books. A separate "Snoopy" department has Snoopy himself and his wardrobe of clothes, plus a variety of gifts. Rolled or flat posters include "Snoopy", Betsy Clark designs, scenics and animals–attractive wall hangings to brighten a room.

Games and Puzzles: Fascinating puzzles for adults on many diverse subjects, from King Tut to pizza, are made by Springbok, M.C. Escher and Milton Bradley. Children's puzzles by Milton Bradley feature "Barbie", "Peanuts", animals or scenes, with 25 to 250 pieces.

Favorite board games are checkers, dominoes, chess and backgammon in handsome attache-type cases of leather, wicker or corduroy. Other board games include "Snoopy's Doghouse" for young children 4-8, by Milton Bradley, and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" for ages 8 to adult, by Parker.

Adults enjoy the strategy games of war, sports, space by Avalon Hill and the Scrabble brand Crossword Games in seven languages by Selchow and Righter. The whole family will find electronic games exciting--"Battleship" and the new "Simon" are by Milton Bradley; "Code Name Sector" by Parker.

Stuffed Animals and Dolls. Dakin's menagerie includes cuddly and appealing "Nature Babies", "Bean Bags" and "Pillow Pets". Steiff has many loveable miniatures and large animals. Both Steiff and Dakin make hand puppets--Steiff's collection includes cats, rabbits, monkeys, tigers, and Dakin makes "Knit-Mitts" puppets and "Nature Puppets". Dolls by Mme. Alexander appear in international costume, or as dreamy brides and realistic infants.

New and Unusual Gifts. Zinder's has added new lines of gifts by three manufacturers: Dunston makes arrangements of dried flowers with butterflies and places them between two layers of glass in dark stained wood frames shaped as rounds, squares, rectangles or free-standing pyramids. Kim Originals are silk flower arrangements in attractive containers--carved wooden boxes, ceramic bowls, patterned glass goblets, china teacups, baskets. Dixson's plexiglas scluptures are bent into a variety of amusing desk-top figures showing personalities from every walk of life--doctors, lawyers, realtors, tennis players, golfers, dieters and many others.

Zinder's Hallmark Shop is located at 102 Nassau Street. Dave Brewer is owner. Store hours are 9-5:30, Monday through Friday; 9-5 Saturday.

--Keitha Davey

THREE TO GET READY: Connie Parker, salesparson, (left) and Dave and Linda Brewer, owners of Zinder's, are ready for the opaning of the store as a Hallmark Shop this Thursday. The shop will carry a complete line of Hallmark's products, unusual gifts by other makers, and an expanded selection of games, puzzles and stuffed animals.

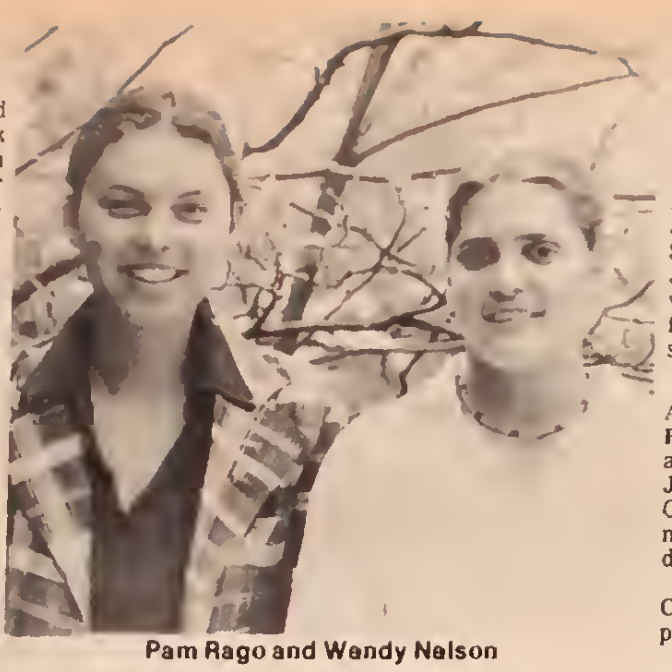
will administer glaucoma and vision screening tests. Frank Piccola, West Windsor Health Officer, has arranged for blood pressure readings administered by the Twin W. Rescue Squad. Lt. Frank Cox of the West Windsor Police Department will present a proposal for setting up a program to register senior citizens so that all pertinent information will be on file and readily available in case of emergency.

The education department of the Woman's Club has chosen a delegate and an alternate to attend the Citizenship Institute for Girls being held at Douglass College this week.

The delegate is Pam Rago, daughter of Mrs. Sharon Naeola, of 50 Hamilton Avenue, and the alternate is Wendy Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne K. Nelson of 2 Elm Road. Both girls are juniors at Princeton High School.

The Institute provides training in good citizenship and an appreciation of government operations, including laws, agencies and services. Several hundred high school juniors from New Jersey will attend.



Pam Rago and Wendy Nelson

The Junior League of the Central Delaware Valley and the Ewing Township Historical Preservation Society have announced the formation of "Friends of the Benjamin Temple House," Federal City Road, Trenton. A gavel was presented to Mrs. John Hopkins of Pennington, first president of the newly formed organization and a sustaining member of the Junior League.

Through the efforts of the provisional class of the Junior League, the second floor has been renovated to accommodate the caretakers of the house. The Junior League has purchased furniture for the sitting room and 100 chairs for use at their meetings and for use by other community groups.

Committee members living in Princeton include Mrs. Colleen Hall, Mrs. Barbara Timmon, Mrs. Nancy Consell, Mrs. Phoebe Apgar and Mrs. Helen Apgar.

The Lawrence Township Senior Citizens Club I will meet Tuesday at noon in Legion Hall, Berwyn Place, Lawrenceville, for bingo. There will be a business meeting at 1. The club's "Kitchen Kanaries" and Men's Chorus, under the direction of Ethel Dettman, will provide the program.

The YWCA International Club will hold an open house with movies Thursday at 8 in the lounge at the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place. The movies, courtesy of Sandy Johnson, will be "Bali Today," introduced by Margaret Mead, and "Shanghaied" with Charlie Chaplin.

Birth Alternatives will have a meeting on "Pregnancy and Sexuality" Wednesday at 8 in Dorothea House, corner of John Street and Paul Robeson Place. Shirley Rennie, R.N., of Planned Parenthood will lead the discussion.

For more information call 921-1754 or 896-1781.

Soroptimist International will meet Monday at the Nassau Inn. Anne Yedowitz, immediate past governor of the North Atlantic Region and secretary of the Soroptimist International of the Americas, will be the featured speaker. Catherine Angello, secretary of District Two of the North Atlantic Region, will install incoming officers. They are Doris E. Riley, president; Helen Evatt, first vice president; Jean Bosley, second vice president; Edith Umbrecht, recording secretary; Margareta Schenk, corresponding secretary; Betty Boonin, immediate past president, and Eleanor Nelson, directors; and delegate, Carol Walker, with Alice Braveman, alternate.

Two West Windsor youths, Tim Gunkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gunkel of Lillie Street, and Jeff Guzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Guzy of Canoe Brook Drive, have been selected by the West Windsor Lions Club as representatives to the New Jersey Boys State for 1978. Both are juniors at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School and active in a variety of school functions, including varsity athletics.

Boys State is a nationwide annual gathering of selected high school juniors which is organized and run by the American Legion. The New Jersey gathering will meet Sunday through Saturday, June 14, at Rider College and will perform many of the functions carried on by the state government.

Princeton Chapter No. 459, American Association of Retired Persons, will hold its annual picnic on Thursday, June 15 at Noon at the Shrine Club on River Road for members only. No meetings during July and August.

A White Elephant Sale and a Champagne Raffle are planned.

Jennie Jackson is chairman, assisted by Josephine Albert, Sara Forsyth, Mildred Schmitt, May Phillips, Ethel Peresett, Velda Altieri and Mamie DelVecchio.

"Pressures on Being Single" will be discussed at the meeting of the Third Thursday Singles group Thursday, June 15, at 8:30 at the Beth Chaim Congregation in West Windsor. Third Thursday Singles is non-denominational and is limited to singles 28 and over.

Beth Chaim is located on Village Road, a half mile west of Old Trenton Road. A fee of $1.50 will be charged. Wine and cheese will be served along with tea and coffee.

Name the little boy in our radio commercials and win a $100 Savings Account!

People tell us that the Little Boy we use in our radio commercials has charm, realism and a sophisticated sense of comedy. They ask us all kinds of questions about him. And they tell us how they picture him, how old they think he is and what his name might be.

On every radio commercial he has a different name. So many in fact, that we want you to give him a permanent name or a nickname, and we will be offering a $100.00 reward for the best name created by you. Five runners-up will also be chosen and they'll receive $25 Savings Accounts.

In case you haven't heard our Little Boy commercials yet, listen to them on WHWH (1350 AM) between 7:15 AM and 7 PM, WPST (97.5 FM) between 9 AM and 10 AM, or WBRW (1170 AM) at approximately 7 AM and 5:30 PM. Then name our Little Boy. But hurry . . . he's waiting! You know how it is . . . when you're cute, lots of people want to know your name.

"A small-town approach to banking means being in touch with the community and the people you serve. And that takes a big-time commitment, a full-time commitment.

"As president of First National and a Princeton resident, I extend my banking hours by working for as many local civic organizations as possible—from the Medical Center of Princeton to McCarter Theatre. And I'm especially proud of the active role our people play in local community affairs. We believe that's the only way to really understand our customers. And to provide the full personal service that's so important—but, unfortunately, so rare—in this day and age.

"Personal service is, no doubt, a major reason for the huge success of our YES PLUS® program. YES PLUS responds to your everyday personal banking needs with many fine services including free checking with a cash reserve, free telephone transfers, loan discounts and much more. But, more important, YES PLUS gives you your own personal banker... someone who knows you by name... one person to turn to with all your banking problems. That's what we call small-town, full service banking. That's what I mean when I say we're truly a people-oriented bank. But don't misunderstand: small town doesn't mean small bank. As a member of one of New Jersey's largest banking organizations—United Jersey Banks—we have total resources in excess of $2.3 billion!

"I think our small-town personal banking approach makes a tremendous difference—a difference you'll sense the moment you walk in the door. Stop by soon and see how we've put an end to banking anonymous!"

SPORTS FANS I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to You by John Bernard

Here's an interesting fact about the manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Tom Lasorda ... He managed seven years in the minors before becoming manager of the Dodgers last year – and in all the eight years he's managed so far, his teams have NEVER finished lower than third place ... In those eight years, he's won six pennants, finished second once, and third once.

What effect does the designated hitter rule have on the overall batting in big league baseball? ... Surprisingly, not very much ... The American League, which has the designated hitter, had an overall league batting average last season only four percentage points higher than the National League, which doesn't use the designated hiiter ... The composite batting average in the American League last year was .266 ... In the National league, it was .262.

• • •

Now that Pete Rose has made 3,000 hits, did you ever realize all the great players who never made 3,000? ... They include Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Lou Gehrig and Mickey Mantle.

I bet you didn't know... that many health insurance plans, including Blue Cross-Blue Shield, do not cover children after they reach 19 years old or graduate from college.

PHS Nine, 14-6 After 15 Seasons of Defeat, Feels Winning May Become a Way of Life

HE'LL BE BACK: Sophomore infielder John Tevebaugh is one of six players who will form the nucleus of next year's PHS baseball team.

Has Princeton High School under coach Jim O'Neill turned the corner in baseball?

After 15 consecutive losing seasons, the Little Tigers burst fourth this spring with a fine 14-6 record, coming within inches of reaching the Central Jersey Group 2 championship game and capturing the Hopewell Valley Conference crown. Can followers of the Blue and White expect more?

O'Neill hopes so. What happened this year, he observed last week, "was good for the kids, good for me, and– I hope--good for the school. We did build a team; in the long term, I hope we've built a program. I hope we don't have something like this happen every four years."

Anyone close to O'Neill soon realizes that he loves the game and is fascinated by its endless intracacies. When he finally broke through in his fourth year as coach, he was the first to admit that "winning does wonderful things for you."

But he does not have a winning-is-the-only-thing mentality. He wants his players to enjoy the game first and do the best they can--and if you win so much the better.

"I think high school sports is all about getting kids to play up to their potential. If you get them into the habit of playing up to their potential, you can't ask for anything more."

Contrast in Confidence. O'Neill pointed out that, basically, this year's team had the same material as the one that ended 2-16 last year. "They just responded to the call. There was such a contrast in confidence between this year and last." Eight members of this year's team graduate--the heart of the team. O'Neill expressed a feeling of nostalgia at the thought. "They were freshmen when I took over the varsity program; I have a special kind of affection for them."

"I don't think many people really appreciate what we came through," he continued. Last year was especially disappointing. The team that O'Neill had been grooming was mostly juniors; it had one year's experience and O'Neill, along with most PHS fans, felt "this was going to be the year." Instead, the Little Tigers won their first game and did not win again until the final game of the season.

Which is why O'Neill could say last week, "probably none is more entitled to some success; none is more deserving to taste it."

As it was, PHS came close to making this year's record even more sparkling. In the NJSIAA semi-final with Shore Regional, twice it was within one out of victory. It ultimately lost by one run in extra innings.

It lost the CVC crown to Notre Dame by one game. In its first meeting this year with the Irish, PHS lost 3-2 in extra innings. Had it won that contest--described by O'Neill as "one of the ones that come back to haunt you"--the final league record of Notre Dame's 10-2 and Princeton's 9-3 would have been reversed.

Six Return. If PHS is to repeat its success, the burden will lie on six returning players, four of whom have had some experience. Three are infielders, led by Dave Reed, described by O'Neill as his most improved player of the year. Reed, a junior, is a standout defensive player and had a good year at the plate. He plays second base.

Brent Robinson, a freshman with a lot of potential, and sophomore Mark Adams, both have seen limited service at third.

The lone returning pitcher is Matt Kahny who started the year on the jayvee squad and "improved tremendously over the season," said O'Neill. "He won three when we needed it and we couldn't have done it without him."

Two others returning with less playing time are catcher John Sapoch and infielder John Tevebaugh.

Like Home Field. One plus PHS will have is its new field on Valley Road. After suffering through years with a field that didn't drain properly and which had a cinder track and football stand in the outfield, PHS moved to its new diamond this spring.

In 11 home games this year, PHS won ten. That record, commented O'Neill, "will probably stand for a long time."

Usually in the fall, O'Neill joins the PHS football coaching staff. But he is giving that up, as well as his advisor's role on the school year book to concentrate on his master's degree in business administration at Rutgers.

One thing, he reported, that he is not giving up is baseball. "I love that too much".

Kandell, Sapoch Honored

At an awards banquet Tuesday night at the Chestnut Street Firehouse, Al Kandell of the Princeton High School baseball team was named Most Valuable Player for the second year in a row. A pitcher - outfielder, Kandell ended with a .368 batting average and won four and lost two on the mound.

Junior John Sapoch was voted the Sportsmanship award by his teammates. A catcher, he was sidelined most of the season with mononucleosis.

"The awards mean a lot because they are voted by the kids themselves," said PHS coach Jim O'Neill.

SIXTEEN TEAMS QUALIFY For Springdale Tournament. Twenty-eight twosomes entered the Governor's Cup qualifying round at Springdale Golf Club Sunday and 16 of them will begin 18-hole match play Saturday morning. Each player used his full handicap in determining the better ball of partners.

Jim Litvack and Harold Crane were the medalists with an 18-hole total of 60. They will face Patrick Rulon-Miller and Mike Curtin.

Other pairings: Larry McHugh and John Gianacaci vs. Danforth Hall and Willie Rosso; Jack Sweeney and Mike Shillaber vs. Bob McCarthy and Bill Middlebrook; Ted Tams and Paul Levy vs. Fred Short and Jack Childress; Dick Bradley and Dick Querns vs. Ken Burkhead and John W. Ellsworth; Arne Booth and Lester Robbins vs. John Brophy and Joe Masick; Stuart Drier and Frank Crecca vs. Ben Herrman and Dick Embley; Alex Ross and Charlie Hurford vs. Alan Poole and Jack Mudge.

KOFFEE KUP PERKING In Women's Softball League. Koffee Kup pounded out 29 hits, including homers by Lisa Yates, Shelly Craig and Jayme Edwards, to extend its two-year streak to 17 straight by blasting Ivy Inn, 20-6.

For five innings, Community Liquors outplayed Conte's Bar; unfortunately for the losers, it was the first inning that saw Conte's score all of its runs in an 8-4 win. Heidi Nini's two-run homer, a triple by Amy Shillaber and Barb Miller's double highlighted the Conte big inning.

Behind 12-6 after three and one-half innings, Kingston Wine exploded for 12 runs and went on to overwhelm Landau's, 22-12. Joan McCormack's two home runs and one each by Clare Baxter and Melissa Magee powered the

LEAGUE TITLES DECIDED

In Nassau Soccer. Playoffs for league championships highlighted the final week of competition for the Nassau Soccer Association.

In the Bantam league, the champion Blue Stars were led by Matt Newton's four goals in defeating the Nassau Devils 5-0. In the consolation game, Thad Reynolds' three goals paced the Nassau Superstars to a 4-1 win over the Cardinals.

Ben Metcalf and Steven Shaff were among the scorers in a 2-2 deadlock between the Cosmos and the Jaguars, while the Americans overwhelmed the Green Machine, 7-0. Jimmy Scott, Pat Noonan, and David Balint accounted for the tallies in the Tiger's 3-0 victory over the Blue Devils.

In the Cub league, the Horrible Hamsters used goals by Michael Hunninghake, Mark Nathan, Paul Horowitz, and Steven Clemens to defeat the Blue Devils, 7-3; Carl Zuckerberg, Kirk Williams, and Bruce Ellis scored for the losers. The consolation match ended in a 2-2 tie between the Dark Greens and the Tigers. Don Shaffer, Milena Rosenblum, Danny Shidlovsky, and Dexter Harding each scored one goal.

In other games, the Princeton Professionals shut out the Reds, 4-0, and the Blue Meanies defeated the Maroonies, 8-2.

For the Youth league championship, the Cosmos relied on goals by Tommy Rossmassler, Billy Scott, and Chris McCabe for a 6-3 win over the Rowdies. James Womack, Ted Bradford, and Charles Reeves scored for the losers.

The Diplomats exploded for eight goals (Billy Burks, Peter Guthrie, Steve Daughney) to defeat the Sockers, whose lone goal was tallied by Dalton Menhall. Ian Smith, Mark Hill, Billy Coker, Chris Kuser, and Eric Tamm accounted for seven goals to lead the Hurricanes to a win over the Timbers, while Cary Paik and John Soderberg contributed three goals in a losing effort.

The Intermediate league championship was a battle between goalies as John Abrahams for the Cosmos and Laura Nathan for the Blue Devils held each other team scoreless. The deadlock made the two teams co-champions.

In other games, Joe Leddy and Anne Jenssen each had two goals in the Blue Devils' 4-2 victory over the Furies, as Marcus Bleecker accounted for the losers' tallies.

Five players shared the scoring in the Blue Bloods' 6-4 win over the Yellow Submarine: Mike Petrone, Brad Smith, David Cassidy, Joe Speciale, and Jackie Bartram. Jim Opperman and Peter Paik were the lone scorers in the Cosmos' 2-0 shutout of the Battling Bullfrogs.

Frank Sowinski 9th Round Choice Of New Jersey Nets in NBA Draft

Frank Sowinski, who holds the Princeton career record for accuracy in field goal shooting, was a ninth round choice of the New Jersey Nets in the National Basketball Association draft last week.

Two other Ivy League players were picked, both higher in the selection process than Sowinski. Keven McDonald, Pennsylvania's fine forward who was the league's choice as "Player of the Year," went to the San Antonio Spurs in the second round. Sterling Edmunds, the Dartmouth center whose 64 percent field goal average topped the Ivies last winter, was picked by the Portland Trail Blazers as their third - round choice.

Sowinski, who was Ivy "Player of the Year" in 1977, when Pete Carril's quintet defended its title successfully, was slowed last winter by persistent tendonitis in his ankle but nonetheless shot his way to sixth place on Princeton's all - time scoring list. He finished his career with 1133 points.

The Tiger forward will go to a rookie camp which the Nets will conduct this summer. As one of 10 college seniors they drafted, he will be seeking a place on a 14-team roster already populated by those who finished the season in April. Despite his fine shooting ability from both the floor and the foul line, his 6-5 height as a forward and the small number of rookies who earn NBA berths each year are expected to work against him.

Sowinski joins a growing number of Princeton alumni to be drafted for professional play. The first — more than 30 years ago — was Bud Palmer '44, followed three years later by Butch Van Breda Kolff '45, both of whom played with the New York Knicks.

A long hiatus followed before Bill Bradley finished his two years at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar and then played for the Knicks. He has since been joined in the pros by John Hummer '70, Geoff Petrie '70, Brian Taylor '73 and Armond Hill '76. Taylor is with the Denver Nuggets, Hill with the Atlanta Hawks, while the others have brought their careers to an end.

In Junior league competition, Bill Bushnell, Norman Callaway, Colin Mahoney, and John Dumont led the Reds to a 9-1 victory over the Light Blues. Drew Bienkowski accounted for the losers' single tally.

In a high-scoring game, John Bolster, Jon Davidson, Rodrigo Calderon, Chris Illick, Eric Panitz, Todd Heebink, Andy Bing, and Richard Lipman all scored one or more times in a 12-8 contest won by the Greens over the Yellows. Wes Lofgren, Stu Bonnema, Ned Desmond, and Sean McAdam paced the Orange team to a 7-2 win over Dark Blue which was led by Peter Gager's two goals.

In the Senior league championship game, the outnumbered Conservatives, paced by goals from Jay Bienkowski and Scott Roney, lost to the Radicals, 4-2. The victors had goals by Frantz Celestin, Jeff Henkel, Paul Curschmann, and Patrice Louvet.

In a game marked by the high-spirited play that has characterized senior games this spring, Tim Watkins and Charlie Bolster led the Democrats to a 3-1 win over the Republicans.

Norm Peck

SQUASH COACH NAMED

Peck Succeeds Benjamin. Norm Peck, assistant coach of the national champion squash team at Princeton, has been named head of the sport. He replaces Dave Benjamin, who has decided to give up squash to devote full time to directing Princeton's nationally-ranked tennis team and administration of the University Courts.

In the last five seasons Peck's junior varsity squash unit has compiled a nearly perfect 66-1 mark. Peck, who joined the Princeton staff in June of 1974, is also the assistant coach of Princeton's Eastern championship tennis team and will retain that position. His junior varsity netmen have coincidentally the same record as his squash JV's, 66-1, with an undefeated 10-0 mark this spring.

Peck collaborated with Austin Francis in authoring the book "Smart Squash," published last year. He was also a contrihutor and assistant producer in a series of instructional films on squash for the New Jersey Public Broadcasting System.

For the past three summers, Peck has been a teacher in the Princeton community tennis program, and in the summer of 1975 he coached the Princeton entry in the national cities team tennis championships.

SEASON UNDER WAY

In PYBA Baseball. In opening games last week in the Princeton Youth Baseball Association, last year's champions Eagles were upset by Engine Company No. 3, 8 to 2.

The winning pitcher, Scott Roberts, connected for a triple and homer, while David Stifel had three singles and Carter Sharaf and John Lysaker each had a pair of hits. Losing pitcher Jason Petrone also hit a triple.

Engine Company No. 1 trounced the Elks, 26 to 5. Winning pitcher Richard DiBianco fanned 16 and hit three singles. Teammate Joe O'Grady hit two doubles, a triple, a home run and drove in six. A triple by Melanie Nosal and singles by Jamie VanRaalte and Ben White added to the winning effort.

Roma Eterna blanked Century 21, 11-0. Winning pitcher Kyle Stephans fanned eight in an almost perfect game. Stephans also hit two triples and a single. Jon Abrahms also contributed to Roma's win. Michael Blaxill pitched three no-hit innings in relief.

Post 76 beat Italian-American, 16 to 7, in a game which was called after four innings because of sun glare. Peter Kellogg slammed two doubles along with winning pitcher Steve Thomas, who also doubled. Mickey Carnevale, Keith Weber and Robert Bosley all had a pair of singles for the victors. John Dumont and Chris Galliardo doubled and Mark Migliore tripled with the bases loaded for Italian American.

TURNER JUMPS 22-3

In Meet of Champions. Barry Turner of Princeton High School saved the best jump for last.

In last week's NJSIAA Meet of Champions held at Princeton University, Turner became the fourth best long jumper in the state when he leaped 22 feet, three inches. That was one and a half inches longer than the mark of Chris Vasser of Lower Cape May, who a week earlier had topped Turner in winning the NJSIAA Group 2 state long jump championship.

Keith Washington of Woodbury won the event with a performance of 23-0.

ALL STARS NAMED

In Princeton Soccer Leagues. All-Stars have been selected for the three youngest leagues in The Princeton Soccer Club's spring program. Voting was by the players and the coaches.

Ten players in the youngest league, The Cub League, were honored. Forwards were Mark Redding, Sean Gibbons, Tim Levy, Shawn Pierson, and Eric Bergman. Defenders were Billy Kearny, Reede Shores, Colin Hynes, Reed Barton and Claudio Vasquez.

In the Youth League an entire 11-man all-star squad was chosen. Ian McCray is the goalie and Ben Tregoe, Grant Gund and Chad Jones the backs. Midfielders are Chris Tetzelli, Bobby Ragoonath and Erik Oliger, while Scott Miller, George Ward, Paul Jameson and Colin Wright are the forwards.

In the Junior League, seven players who had been outstanding throughout the entire year were named: Andy Lipman, Chris Littlejohn, Matt Mack, Paul Ducharme, Chris McCray, Brian Port and Chris Cox.

SOCCER TEAM ENTERED

In State Tournament. The 1966 traveling team of the Nassau Soccer Association will participate in the Tournament of Champions in Ocean Township on Saturday and Sunday. The tournament includes the best youth soccer teams throughout the state.

The Nassau team, with a record of 7 wins and a loss, will be led by its high-scoring halfback, Andy Bing, and its goalkeeper, Steve Bordes. The tournament will mark the end of the season for all Nassau teams.

Singles Deadline Thursday

The women's singles of the Princeton Community Adult Tournaments will be held this weekend at the University Church courts.

Entries close Thursday at noon and should be made at the Tennis Office, 71 University Place.

DOUBLEHEADER BOOKED

In Baseball June 17. The New Jersey Baseball Coaches Association is sponsoring a high school all-star doubleheader on Princeton University's Clarke Field Saturday, June 17. The first game will begin at 11, the second at 2.

Four all-star teams will be selected by coaches in each section of the state, with recommendations by the major league scouts playing an important part. Tickets may be purchased at the field the day of the game.

Donations are $2 for adults and $1 for students. All proceeds will be turned over to the American Cancer Society.

POST 76 OUTSLUGGED

In Legion Opener. In its Opening game in the Mercer County American Legion League, Princeton Post 76 was outslugged, 10-9, by Hightstown Post 148 Sunday at Princeton University's Clarke Field.

Post 76 scored six of its nine runs in the second, highlighted by catcher Jeff Lechowicz's grand slam. He drove in five runs for the day.

Former Princeton High School players Keith Phox and Jon Miller each had two hits-half of the eight collected off winning pitcher Bill Braun, who struck out 12. Phox, winner of seven games for PHS this spring, took the loss.

Hightstown Post 148, which doubled Princeton's hitting total with 16, won it in the seventh with a four-run rally. After a fielder's choice sent one run home, two Princeton errors allowed two more to cross the plate to set up the game-winning run. That came on a squeeze bunt by designated hitter Troy Urness, his second of the game. Ron Dilatush and Scott Carduner each had three hits for the victors.

Princeton is in the Northern Division with Ewing Post 314, Hopewell Post 339, Lawrence Post 414 and North Trenton Post 458. Hopewell won the Northern Division crown last year after defeating Ewing in a playoff.

Teams in the Southern Division are Hamilton Post 31, the defending league champion; Bordentown Post 26, Trenton Post 93, Hightstown Post 148 and Broad Street Park Post 313.

Members of Post 76 this year include Al Kandell, Jon Miller, Steve Miller, Keith Phox and Jamie Robertson, all of Princeton High; Dave Barondess and Evan Press of Princeton Day School; Bob Easton and Ken Greener of Hopewell Valley High. Others are Jim Baxter, Tom Jerguson, John Flood, Lechowicz, Jon Luse, Tom Murphy, Rich Patterson, Scott Stebbins and Mark Wasco.

EIGHT GAMES LISTED

For Lawrenceville In Football. The Lawrenceville School football team will play an eight-game schedule this fall, opening at Lawrence High School on September 23.

The rest of the schedule: Sept. 30, Deerfield Academy, away; Oct. 7, Germantown Academy; 14, Andover; 21, Williamson Trade; 28, Peddie, away; Nov. 4, Choate; 11, Hill School, away.

The Pioneers. Along with Charles Gillispie, director of Princeton University's program in the history and philosophy of science, and the Hills and Bob McCarthy, who used to own The Pink Elephant, and Richard Goeke who is the painter foreman at Princeton University and the Cranes--Mr. Crane is an executive at Educational Testing Service--the Nosals are original home-steaders on Morgan Place.

Newer neighbors are Glen Miller, the attorney who used to be Township Magistrate, and Jon D. Hlafter, the University's Director of Physical Planning.

James W. Gregory, an engineer for Conrail, lives on Morgan Place and so does Dr. Karl Aschaffenburg, internationally-known personnel consultant whose forte is the analysis of handwriting.

Across Mountain, is an older street. It's Henderson Avenue, narrow and tranquil, shaded by high old trees, reminiscent of a quiet small-town street in the 1920s. There are still Hendersons living oo Henderson Avenue. People all around Princeton remember the snakes aod monkeys Mr. Arnott used to have in his pet shop. He's still on the Avenue, but no more monkeys.

Henderson Avenue, and farther along, the unmarked and rutted cartway called Quarry Lane (the quarry long abandoned), are paths into the past. Here, on the Mountain-Henderson corner, is the home of Michael Perna, whose family has for many years owned the service station on Route 206 and the Rocky Hill Road. A handsome old fence of black cast iron and stone posts, fronts the big, shaded house and brings echoes of years gone by. In similar large, well-kept houses are the Pinellis and the Ventas.

Mrs. Gordon Knox, who lives in the gracious Georgian mansion at the western end of Mountain Avenue, is a knowledgeable local historian, and she says the area was once part of land owned by the Hugenots.

"There was no Elm Road," she says, "and you rode along Mountain, made a few sharp turns along what was then Cedar Grove Road--it's The Great Road now--to Blawenburg. It was the only way to get there."

A "Steadman Foundation." Under Nancy Knox' house are the remains of an old Steadman-designed house, moved to her hill around 1870, and demolished by the builder of her own house. It was moved when the Seminary's campus was being built to make way for a new building. Mrs. Knox still has the mantel from the old house.

Mrs. Knox, incidentally, hopes the triangle where the Medical Center would be might become an adjunct to the new Community Park North.

Neighbors say they enjoy, in their part of the Princeton community, the combination of city and country. The Nosals walk in the evening and encounter deer. But their daughter is only a skip from swimming pool, ball-fields and tennis courts.

"It's interesting," muses Mrs. Tarabell, "when something happens that touches the basics, everybody bunches together. We all go about our own business, but when help is needed, we're all here."
